What is STRIBILD?

STRIBILD is a prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in adults who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before. It combines 4 medicines into 1 pill to be taken once a day with food. STRIBILD is a complete single-tablet regimen and should not be used with other HIV-1 medicines.

STRIBILD does not cure HIV-1 infection or AIDS. To control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses you must keep taking STRIBILD. Ask your healthcare provider if you have questions about how to reduce the risk of passing HIV-1 to others. Always practice safer sex and use condoms to lower the chance of sexual contact with body fluids. Never reuse or share needles or other items that have body fluids on them.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is the most important information I should know about STRIBILD?

STRIBILD can cause serious side effects:

- Build-up of an acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious medical emergency. Symptoms of lactic acidosis include feeling very weak or tired, unusual (not normal) muscle pain, trouble breathing, stomach pain with nausea or vomiting, feeling cold especially in your arms and legs, feeling dizzy or lightheaded, and/or a fast or irregular heartbeat.
- Serious liver problems. The liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and fatty (steatosis). Symptoms of liver problems include your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice), dark "tea-colored" urine, light-colored bowel movements (stools), loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, and/or stomach pain.
- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or serious liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking STRIBILD for a long time. In some cases, these serious conditions have led to death. Call your healthcare provider right away if you have any symptoms of these conditions.

- Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. If you also have HBV and stop taking STRIBILD, your hepatitis may suddenly get worse. Do not stop taking STRIBILD without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to monitor your health. STRIBILD is not approved for the treatment of HBV.

Who should not take STRIBILD?

Do not take STRIBILD if you:

- Take a medicine that contains: alfuzosin, dihydroergotamine, ergotamine, methylergonovine, cisapride, lovastatin, simvastatin, pimozone, sildenafil when used for lung problems (Revatio[®]), triazolam, oral midazolam, rifampin or the herb St. John's wort.
- For a list of brand names for these medicines, please see the Brief Summary on the following pages.
- Take any other medicines to treat HIV-1 infection, or the medicine adefovir (Hepsera[®]).

What are the other possible side effects of STRIBILD?

Serious side effects of STRIBILD may also include:

- New or worse kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do regular blood and urine tests to check your kidneys before and during treatment with STRIBILD. If you develop kidney problems, your healthcare provider may tell you to stop taking STRIBILD.
- Bone problems, including bone pain or bones getting soft or thin, which may lead to fractures. Your healthcare provider may do tests to check your bones.
- Changes in body fat can happen in people taking HIV-1 medicines.
- Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any new symptoms after you start taking STRIBILD.

The most common side effects of STRIBILD include nausea and diarrhea. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effects that bother you or don't go away.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking STRIBILD?

- All your health problems. Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you have or had any kidney, bone, or liver problems, including hepatitis virus infection.
 - All the medicines you take, including prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements. STRIBILD may affect the way other medicines work, and other medicines may affect how STRIBILD works. Keep a list of all your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist. Do not start any new medicines while taking STRIBILD without first talking with your healthcare provider.
 - If you take hormone-based birth control (pills, patches, rings, shots, etc).
 - If you take antacids. Take antacids at least 2 hours before or after you take STRIBILD.
 - If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if STRIBILD can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking STRIBILD.
 - If you are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed. HIV-1 can be passed to the baby in breast milk. Also, some medicines in STRIBILD can pass into breast milk, and it is not known if this can harm the baby.
- You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Please see Brief Summary of full Prescribing Information with important warnings on the following pages.

Brief summary of full Prescribing Information.
For more information, please see the full Prescribing
Information, including Patient Information.

What is STRIBILD?

- STRIBILD is a prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in adults who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before. STRIBILD is a complete regimen and should not be used with other HIV-1 medicines.
- STRIBILD does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS. You must stay on continuous HIV-1 therapy to control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses.
- Ask your healthcare provider about how to prevent passing HIV-1 to others. Do not share or reuse needles, injection equipment, or personal items that can have blood or body fluids on them. Do not have sex without protection. Always practice safer sex by using a latex or polyurethane condom to lower the chance of sexual contact with semen, vaginal secretions, or blood.

What is the most important information I should know about STRIBILD?

STRIBILD can cause serious side effects, including:

1. Build-up of lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis). Lactic acidosis can happen in some people who take STRIBILD or similar (nucleoside analogs) medicines. Lactic acidosis is a serious medical emergency that can lead to death. Lactic acidosis can be hard to identify early, because the symptoms could seem like symptoms of other health problems. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms which could be signs of lactic acidosis:

- feel very weak or tired
- have unusual (not normal) muscle pain
- have trouble breathing
- have stomach pain with nausea or vomiting
- feel cold, especially in your arms and legs

- feel dizzy or lightheaded
- have a fast or irregular heartbeat

2. Severe liver problems. Severe liver problems can happen in people who take STRIBILD. In some cases, these liver problems can lead to death. Your liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and you may develop fat in your liver (steatosis). Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms of liver problems:

- your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice)
- dark “tea-colored” urine
- light-colored bowel movements (stools)
- loss of appetite for several days or longer
- nausea
- stomach pain

You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or severe liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking STRIBILD for a long time.

3. Worsening of Hepatitis B infection. If you have hepatitis B virus (HBV) infection and take STRIBILD, your HBV may get worse (flare-up) if you stop taking STRIBILD. A “flare-up” is when your HBV infection suddenly returns in a worse way than before.

- Do not run out of STRIBILD. Refill your prescription or talk to your healthcare provider before your STRIBILD is all gone
- Do not stop taking STRIBILD without first talking to your healthcare provider
- If you stop taking STRIBILD, your healthcare provider will need to check your health often and do blood tests regularly for several months to check your HBV infection. Tell your healthcare provider about any new or unusual symptoms you may have after you stop taking STRIBILD

Who should not take STRIBILD?

Do not take STRIBILD if you also take a medicine that contains:

- adefovir (Hepsera®)
- alfuzosin hydrochloride (Uroxatral®)
- cisapride (Propulsid®, Propulsid Quicksolv®)
- ergot-containing medicines, including:

dihydroergotamine mesylate (D.H.E. 45[®], Migranal[®]), ergotamine tartrate (Cafergot[®], Migergot[®], Ergostat[®], Medihaler Ergotamine[®], Wigraine[®], Wigrettes[®]), and methylergonovine maleate (Ergotrate[®], Methergine[®])

- lovastatin (Advicor[®], Altoprev[®], Mevacor[®])
- oral midazolam
- pimozone (Orap[®])
- rifampin (Rifadin[®], Rifamate[®], Rifater[®], Rimactane[®])
- sildenafil (Revatio[®]), when used for treating lung problems
- simvastatin (Simcor[®], Vytorin[®], Zocor[®])
- triazolam (Halcion[®])
- the herb St. John's wort

Do not take STRIBILD if you also take any other HIV-1 medicines, including:

- Other medicines that contain tenofovir (Atripla[®], Complera[®], Viread[®], Truvada[®])
- Other medicines that contain emtricitabine, lamivudine, or ritonavir (Combivir[®], Emtriva[®], Epivir[®] or Epivir-HBV[®], Epzicom[®], Kaletra[®], Norvir[®], Trizivir[®])

STRIBILD is not for use in people who are less than 18 years old.

What are the possible side effects of STRIBILD?

STRIBILD may cause the following serious side effects:

- See "What is the most important information I should know about STRIBILD?"
- New or worse kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do blood and urine tests to check your kidneys before you start and while you are taking STRIBILD. Your healthcare provider may tell you to stop taking STRIBILD if you develop new or worse kidney problems.
- Bone problems can happen in some people who take STRIBILD. Bone problems include bone pain, softening or thinning (which may lead to fractures). Your healthcare provider may need to do tests to check your bones.
- Changes in body fat can happen in people who take HIV-1 medicine. These changes may include increased amount of fat in the upper back and neck ("buffalo hump"), breast, and around the middle of your body (trunk). Loss of fat from the legs, arms and face may also happen. The exact cause and long-term health effects of these conditions are not known.

- Changes in your immune system (Immune Reconstitution Syndrome) can happen when you start taking HIV-1 medicines. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that have been hidden in your body for a long time. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you start having any new symptoms after starting your HIV-1 medicine.

The most common side effects of STRIBILD include:

- Nausea
- Diarrhea

Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effect that bothers you or that does not go away.

- These are not all the possible side effects of STRIBILD. For more information, ask your healthcare provider.
- Call your healthcare provider for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking STRIBILD?

Tell your healthcare provider about all your medical conditions, including:

- If you have or had any kidney, bone, or liver problems, including hepatitis B infection
- If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if STRIBILD can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking STRIBILD.
 - There is a pregnancy registry for women who take antiviral medicines during pregnancy. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. Talk with your healthcare provider about how you can take part in this registry.
- If you are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed if you take STRIBILD.
 - You should not breastfeed if you have HIV-1 because of the risk of passing HIV-1 to your baby.
 - Two of the medicines in STRIBILD can pass to your baby in your breast milk. It is not known if the other medicines in STRIBILD can pass into your breast milk.

- Talk with your healthcare provider about the best way to feed your baby.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements:

- STRIBILD may affect the way other medicines work, and other medicines may affect how STRIBILD works.

- Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you take any of the following medicines:

- Hormone-based birth control (pills, patches, rings, shots, etc)
- Antacid medicines that contains aluminum, magnesium hydroxide, or calcium carbonate. Take antacids at least 2 hours before or after you take STRIBILD
- Medicines to treat depression, organ transplant rejection, or high blood pressure
- amiodarone (Cordarone[®], Pacerone[®])
- atorvastatin (Lipitor[®], Caduet[®])
- bepridil hydrochloric (Vascor[®], Bepadin[®])
- bosentan (Tracleer[®])
- buspirone
- carbamazepine (Carbatrol[®], Eptol[®], Equetro[®], Tegreto[®])
- clarithromycin (Biaxin[®], Prevpac[®])
- clonazepam (Klonopin[®])
- clorazepate (Gen-xene[®], Tranxene[®])
- colchicine (Colcrys[®])
- medicines that contain dexamethasone
- diazepam (Valium[®])
- digoxin (Lanoxin[®])
- disopyramide (Norpace[®])
- estazolam
- ethosuximide (Zarontin[®])
- flecainide (Tambocor[®])
- flurazepam
- fluticasone (Flovent[®], Flonase[®], Flovent[®] Diskus, Flovent[®] HFA, Veramyst[®])
- itraconazole (Sporanox[®])
- ketoconazole (Nizoral[®])
- lidocaine (Xylocaine[®])
- mexiletine
- oxcarbazepine (Trileptal[®])

- perphenazine
- phenobarbital (Luminal[®])
- phenytoin (Dilantin[®], Phenytek[®])
- propafenone (Rythmol[®])
- quinidine (Neudexta[®])
- rifabutin (Mycobutin[®])
- rifapentine (Priftin[®])
- risperidone (Risperdal[®], Risperdal Consta[®])
- salmeterol (Serevent[®]) or salmeterol when taken in combination with fluticasone (Advair Diskus[®], Advair HFA[®])
- sildenafil (Viagra[®]), tadalafil (Cialis[®]) or vardenafil (Levitra[®], Staxyn[®]), for the treatment of erectile dysfunction (ED). If you get dizzy or faint (low blood pressure), have vision changes or have an erection that last longer than 4 hours, call your healthcare provider or get medical help right away.
- tadalafil (Adcirca[®]), for the treatment of pulmonary arterial hypertension
- telithromycin (Ketek[®])
- thioridazine
- voriconazole (Vfend[®])
- warfarin (Coumadin[®], Jantoven[®])
- zolpidem (Ambien[®], Edlular[®], Intermezzo[®], Zolpimist[®])

Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of all your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist when you get a new medicine. Do not start any new medicines while you are taking STRIBILD without first talking with your healthcare provider.

Keep STRIBILD and all medicines out of reach of children.

This Brief Summary summarizes the most important information about STRIBILD. If you would like more information, talk with your healthcare provider. You can also ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist for information about STRIBILD that is written for health professionals, or call 1-800-445-3235 or go to www.STRIBILD.com.

EVERYTHING IS DRAG

by: Brad Loekle

I've found myself people-watching a lot more than I used to. This is probably due to the fact I've recently moved across the country and there's nothing like a complete change in scenery to make you hyper aware of your surroundings. But these last few months as I've explored L.A. and its inhabitants, I've embraced more than ever the classic saying "We're all born naked and everything else is just drag". And it's as true a phrase as has ever been said. It's almost like, "I think, therefore I am... a drag queen of some sort". In L.A., and especially in our community, everyone is concerned about their image. Their "Brand". Whether you're a straight business man, a gay stripper or anything in between, you spend a lot of time trying to convince the world you're one thing. Think of gay men sexually (I often do), we focus a huge amount of attention on Top, Bottom, Butch, Fem, Bear, Jock, and everything in between. And then once we've decided which of these we are, we build a whole world around them. We're like the J.K. Rowling of raunch! But just as with drag, eventually you'll see a chink in the armor that will give it all away. The proverbial "ball" will come untucked or the beard will start to come in and then BOOM: reality and often hilarity set in. And the "manlier" the drag, the more hilarious it is when it falls apart. I have a lot of "butch" friends here in L.A. Not intentionally, it just happened that way. But despite their best attempts, their beat always gets busted if you stick around long enough. My buddy, Danny is an Irish brawler from Boston who drinks and fights and tops and watches all sorts of sports. But then once night we go out to dinner and I offer him a bite of my bacon wrapped hot dog (see, LA hasn't changed me that much) and he comes back with "Oh, didn't you know? I'm a Pescetarian". Wait, WHAT? Then he decides to quit smoking, so he got one of those electric cigarettes. But the guy I once saw break a bottle over another guy's head for grabbing his boyfriend's ass doesn't smoke tobacco flavored e-smoke. No, he picks flavors like: Swedish Fish, Cookies & Cream, and Summer's Night. Really, queen... really? Or take another butch top I know: Adam. He's covered in tattoos with insane abs and a gruff voice. He eats nothing but red meat and drinks Irish whiskey neat. Except at Karaoke, he singing nothing but heartfelt show tunes; and I constantly have to hide all my good drag "cracking" fans because you give that "butch top" a fucking nylon Asian fan and suddenly it's Crouching Tiger, Hidden Faggot! And it's not just limited to people I know well. The other day, I was walking past this hot, butch, furry man in a Jeep that was painted all in down camouflage with tires twice the size as they should be. This guy looked like the kind of guy who would choke you unconscious and then fuck you awake. So, of course, I was in love. I could hear he was playing music but couldn't make it out. Was it Eminem? Maybe some Lynyrd Skynyrd? Nope. It was ANNE MURRAY?!..... Fly away snow bird, fly away...

And I have to say; at least with queens & sissies they're not trying to hide their drag. Let your freak flag fly I always say. Besides, if all that everyday drag is just to try and get laid or snag a boyfriend; even if it works, he'll eventually notice that under all your Nasty Pig shirts is a Madonna "True Blue" concert T that you simply can't part with. Or that your DVD collection has a lot more Golden Girls than Golden Showers in it. And for the leather queens, just so you know, that's drag too. Because, trust me, I grew up with a father who was a truck driver & biker gang member. And none of their leather ever looked anything like yours. They also didn't wear colorful hankies. In fact, last year there was a big controversy during the Mr. Fire Island Leather event; because the guy who won also happened to be the reigning Ms. Fire Island! "A drag queen can't be a leather man!" I heard over and over again. Bitch, please! It was a bunch of sissies and drag queens that 44 years ago picked up a brick and started the damn gay rights movement! That's about as butch AND fierce as you can get. So think about that if your Grindr or Scruff profile says something like "no fems" or "straight acting only". Hell then next time I meet a guy who's online profile says "only into straight acting/butch guys", I'm gonna go over his house, drink all his booze, and then when he tried to blow me I'm gonna punch him in the mouth and say "Dude, gross! What are you a faggot, or something?!"

Is that straight acting enough for ya, lady?

Ask Nana

E-mail your questions to nana@keywestgayrag.com

Dear Nana,

Lately a lot of the guys who have been hitting on me, online and in the bars, are a lot younger than me. Not under 21, obviously, but just a lot younger than I am used to. I'm in my late 30's and I've always tended to date and hookup with guys in a 4-5 year range of my own age. I'm not used to this new found attention from guys in their early 20's and so I don't know how to deal with it. I'm worried they're just looking for an older sugar daddy. Do you think someone my age can have a real relationship with someone almost two decades younger?

Well boo-hoo, Mary! "Too many hot young cum dumpsters are paying me too much attention", is basically what you're saying. Good gravy, talk about "1st world problems"! I don't see why you should assume that every single guy in his 20's is incapable of being in a serious long term relationship. Especially when you're in your late 30's and not in one yourself. So it isn't just a 20-something problem. Of course, I'm sure, that some of them are definitely drawn towards older men and the security (personally or financially) that they think that might provide. But hey, at least that means they're a 20 year old who knows themselves enough to know what they want. That's an accomplishment in and of itself. And you'll know pretty quickly if all they want is a meal ticket with a hard on. You can weed those bitches out pretty quick. In the end, my bet advice is to enjoy this young, ripe fruit while it dangles so perfectly in front of your face. All too soon, you'll move from "daddy" to "grandpa" in the eyes of these little Dorian Gays. So get it on while the getting's good!

Dear Nana,

If you could meet anyone in history, living or dead, who would it be and why?

Wow. That's actually a head scratcher. There are a lot of folks I'd like to grab a glass of sherry with. I wouldn't mind meeting Rudy Valentino or Earl Flynn and let them make a little ring around my rosy, if you get my drift. But then again, I might like to spend some time with some of the amazing ladies of history. Maybe go horseback riding with Lady Godiva or roast some smores with Joan of Arc! What, too soon? I wouldn't mind kicking Hitler in the baby maker, I can tell you that much! But if I have to pick just one, it would have to be Jesus Christ. Not because I'm a big believer or anything but just because so much of what he and his Dad said, or didn't say, has shaped all of human history. So I'd probably sit down with him, a 5 gallon jug of water (I'd ask him to make it a nice, crisp Chardonnay) and then I'd say, "listen, ya little fucker, we're gonna go line by line of your Dad's book and clear up a few thousand years of typos and misprints. Because I'm pretty sure any guy who hung out with 12 other dudes & a hooker was a lot more like you boys than his Dad's diary makes him out to be.

*Do you have problems? Of course you do!!

ZACHARY MOSES : MAN ABOUT TOWN

I just turned...30. Nothing has given me more anxiety than this dreadful birthday. I couldn't decide how to handle it. Throw a party? Hide? Roll over and die? Lie and say I'm still 29...forever? I had a ridiculous plan to throw the biggest party Key West had ever seen... then I got to thinking. Why welcome 30 with a huge party for people who will just rub it in? Instead I'd send my 20's out with an adventure! It was time to check off another bucket list item... Scuba diving.

The reefs around Key West are considered to be some of the top diving spots in the world, so you can understand my excitement at learning to dive here (it only takes 3 days to get certified!). While I was getting ready for my lessons, I realized that I didn't have a swimsuit that would properly convey how fabulous I was feeling about this new adventure.

So my first stop was Graffiti; a gay-owned men's clothing store located at 721 Duval St. They have the most stylish swimsuits! I got a nice rainbow one with chromed buttons for pool dives... don't buy this one for open water dives (shiny things = dinner for most fish) and a macho army green one for wearing on the ocean dive. Tight boy shorts are excellent for wearing in Key West, but if you visit Utah, expect to get kicked out of the local waterpark. Most American destinations require men to wear big frumpy swimsuits in order to cover our ultra-sexy thighs and scandalous knees.

My diving lesson was with Duane at Captains Corner located at 125 Ann St near the famous Sloppy Joes bar. They are a 5 star certified PADI instruction center (PADI is a must for international diving). The pool dives were interesting, but the open water dives were amazing! It was like entering an alien world. I had no idea how beautiful the reef is, and wow, scuba diving is like flying. On land we only move forward or backward. Out here it was up, down, in, out, all around...It was amazing submitting to the motion of the ocean. I made several jokes along the way about how I should be able to make this dive naked, but once I put my hand on a fire coral, I was happy my junk was inside a wetsuit! Despite the fire coral, I'm hooked!

I was famished when the boat got back into the harbor so decided to try out a new Italian place called Onlywood. They have a brick oven and make yummy wood-fired pizza, and and classic Italian entrees with fresh mozzarella. The pizza was incredible! The oven is so hot that it only takes 90 seconds to cook an entire pizza. The man who operates the oven is so hot that I kept ordering more pizzas for an excuse to spend 90 more seconds peeking over his shoulder.

There is an important vote in Key West on October 1st that will determine the future of tourism in our city.

The Key West Committee for Responsible Tourism is urging everyone to VOTE NO on the referendum to ask for a feasibility study to widen the Key West harbor channel for the following reasons:

- Dredging is illegal in the Florida Keys National Marine Sanctuary.
- Approving the feasibility study referendum tells the Army Corps of Engineers that Key West wants to dredge the channel.
- Key West taxes will increase to pay for part of the $35 million cost for dredging.
- Even if we do widen the channel, there is no guarantee that the cruise lines will send their larger ships to Key West.
