Volume 16 - Issue 12
December 2021

Welcome To Paradise!

As December comes to Key West, we see lots of packages.

Big, small, thick, thin, we love them all and you can see all of the packages during Bone Island week.

The jingle balls will be dangling. We hope you find something hung with care.

Enjoy!

LEZ GO OUT

Lighted palm trees, bubble snow machines and holiday cocktails bring the holidays to these islands. This is about the only place I know of that you can legitimately get a tan on Christmas Day while sipping a peppermint martini by the pool in a Santa hat... and usually little else.

We have our own version of Santa's here. Red bikinis, sequin laden jock straps and white puffy balls everywhere. If you haven't enjoyed a holiday in the keys I definitely recommend it. It's really an experience to see the lighted boat parade with rudolf leading the pack. Fresh fish instead of the traditional ham or turkey. Everyone should do it at least once. Clothing is always whatever you make of it here but the Santa and elf bikinis are a personal favorite.

It's time again for a conch train ride through the neighborhoods to see who has bedecked their house with the most or most creative lights. Usually the house with the best snacks or cocktails wins... at least the popular vote. We all pile onto the conch train, drink in hand and a few under the belts and sing carols and hug our island family a little bit tighter as we snake through old town enjoying our 2 mile by 4 mile rock of fun. As a local I am always so tickled to have a version of real life that fits our style and eclectic personalities. We may be a band of misfits but we enjoy the hell out of this ride we call life.

As the new year approaches we make plans, make costumes and make resolutions (more on that next month) and we are so grateful every single day that we all moved to this little rock and call it home. With LOTS of new neighbors this year due to the incredible housing market I look forward to help break-in (gently) some newbies. They're in for a treat. I do sell real estate like just about everyone ride on this island so if you want to make to home just reach out. I'll help break you in. Er... welcome you to the rock. Just one visit for the Holidays should convince you.

Lez Go Out and make Peace On Earth this holiday season. At least make some fun..

IMPORTANT FACTS FOR BIKTARVY®

This is only a brief summary of important information about BIKTARVY and does not replace talking to your healthcare provider about your condition and your treatment.

(bik-TAR-vee)

MOST IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT BIKTARVY

BIKTARVY may cause serious side effects, including:

▶ Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. Your healthcare provider will test you for HBV. If you have both HIV-1 and HBV, your HBV may suddenly get worse if you stop taking BIKTARVY. Do not stop taking BIKTARVY without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to check your health regularly for several months, and may give you HBV medicine.

ABOUT BIKTARVY

BIKTARVY is a complete, 1-pill, once-a-day prescription medicine used to treat HIV-1 in adults and children who weigh at least 55 pounds. It can either be used in people who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before, or people who are replacing their current HIV-1 medicines and whose healthcare provider determines they meet certain requirements.

BIKTARVY does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS. HIV-1 is the virus that causes AIDS.

Do NOT take BIKTARVY if you also take a medicine that contains:

- ▶ dofetilide
- ▶ rifampin
- ▶ any other medicines to treat HIV-1

POSSIBLE SIDE EFFECTS OF BIKTARVY

BIKTARVY may cause serious side effects, including:

- ▶ Those in the "Most Important Information About BIKTARVY" section.
- ▶ Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that may have been hidden in your body. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any new symptoms after you start taking BIKTARVY.

- ▶ Kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do blood and urine tests to check your kidneys. If you develop new or worse kidney problems, they may tell you to stop taking BIKTARVY.
- ▶ Too much lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious but rare medical emergency that can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: weakness or being more tired than usual, unusual muscle pain, being short of breath or fast breathing, stomach pain with nausea and vomiting, cold or blue hands and feet, feel dizzy or lightheaded, or a fast or abnormal heartbeat.
- ▶ Severe liver problems, which in rare cases can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow, dark "tea-colored" urine, light-colored stools, loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, or stomach-area pain.
- ▶ The most common side effects of BIKTARVY in clinical studies were diarrhea (6%), nausea (6%), and headache (5%).

These are not all the possible side effects of BIKTARVY. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any new symptoms while taking BIKTARVY.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.FDA.gov/medwatch or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Your healthcare provider will need to do tests to monitor your health before and during treatment with BIKTARVY.

BEFORE TAKING BIKTARVY

Tell your healthcare provider if you:

- ▶ Have or have had any kidney or liver problems, including hepatitis infection.
- ▶ Have any other health problems.
- ▶ Are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if BIKTARVY can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking BIKTARVY.
- ▶ Are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed. HIV-1 can be passed to the baby in breast milk.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take:

- ▶ Keep a list that includes all prescription and over-the-counter medicines, antacids, laxatives, vitamins, and herbal supplements, and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist.

- ▶ BIKTARVY and other medicines may affect each other. Ask your healthcare provider and pharmacist about medicines that interact with BIKTARVY, and ask if it is safe to take BIKTARVY with all your other medicines.

HOW TO TAKE BIKTARVY

Take BIKTARVY 1 time each day with or without food.

GET MORE INFORMATION

- ▶ This is only a brief summary of important information about BIKTARVY. Talk to your healthcare provider or pharmacist to learn more.

"GREEDY: NOTES FROM A BISEXUAL WHO WANTS TOO MUCH" BY JEN WINSTON
c.2021, Atria | $18.00 | 336 pages

Share, and share alike.

Which may, in retrospect, be the most ridiculous thing you've ever heard. You're not asking for the stars and the moon; you just want what you want and why pass it around? As in the new book "Greedy" by Jen Winston, who'd ever think that getting what you deserved to have was wrong?

Back in the "aughts," when Jen Winston was rocking her AIM handle and pretending to be boy-crazy, she had no word for liking boys and girls – though she knew she did. Had she questioned anyone, she would have been told that it was a phase, an experiment, or a matter of confusion but she never asked. She instinctively knew that doing the "gay stuff" was hard.

As she grew up and learned the word for what she felt, the idea of being with a woman became more appealing but not quite comfortable. Yes, Winston quietly told herself, she was bisexual, but bisexuality "never felt queer enough." Besides, dating straight men was like the equivalent of "comfort food," though it never worked and was really not much fun.

Various roommates through the years indulged in her search for love, though, by crowdsourcing answers to questions posed by online dates. They also looked the other way as Winston learned that self-pleasure could be ugly, and she didn't want to be "U-G-L-Y." She tried threesomes but, they were loaded with potential rejection; she tried chatrooms but they were scary. She learned that "we" is a painful word when you're not part of it.

Bisexuality comes with a lot of frustrating myths and bisexual people, says Winston, are sometimes not included in the LGBTQ+ community. Bi people aren't especially promiscuous – they're not trying to steal your partner from you – and they're not all just white or female. What they are is: well aware that dating sucks, fairy tales are hard to believe in, and that there are lots of different ways to be gay...

You want it all: you want hearts-and-romance but you also want down-and-dirty. You want to be heard, but you don't want to talk about it. You want to be enough but not so much that it's weird. And you want it with laughs, though that's not the main thing about this book.

While its cover indicates lightheartedness and author Jen Winston seems perfectly happy to tell funny, tongue-in-cheek tales about herself, "Greedy" sports a serious vein that almost feels like a shout. Winston writes of universal experiences – rejection, falling in love, vulnerability, and wanting so much to be adored – and she makes light of them in a way that clearly isn't meant to be all that humorous. We can chuckle, yes, but she also lets us pretend that we don't care about those hurts – even though, like Winston, we all know that we do.

Be aware that there are chapters here that are very graphic and are very much not appropriate for just anyone. If Winston's journey is your journey, too, though, "Greedy" is something to share.

Spilling the hottest tea in Key West

Until our minutes run out on our Cricket phone, we'll be here to listen to the latest dish. We'd never use real names but I'll bet if you ask around, you'll find out who's doing who! If you have some hot gossip, email us at tea@qkeywest.com. We'll keep your name out of it because we know how to keep secrets!

It's that time of year when the hustlers migrate south for the winter. Lock up your valuables ladies if you invite one over and don't forget to escort them out before going to work!

It appears that a few locals have either picked up a bad habit or they're neglecting good oral hygiene. Remember hunny, you only get one set of adult teeth!

Looks like we're playing musical bartenders again. Search around if you're looking for your favorite, it's likely he's just around the corner.

A few business owners seem to have forgotten that pay day isn't optional. Though they still seem to expect the staff to keep showing up. Odd.

Remember to tip your servers gurls. People seem to forget that small piece of advice too often.

MY BIG GAY LIFE

Brad Loekle

MAKE THE YULETIDE GAY

Kids, it is our duty this year to really gay up Christmas. And by Christmas, I mean the whole month of December regardless of what your beliefs are. Because your first and most devout faith must be to your homosexuality. The last few years, I feel like we've been less sassy than decades past. And we must turn back from this and return to our glamorous, gaymazing past. Let's deck these halls with balls and holly, jolly homos! I want us all going home for the holidays and going full-tilt homo for the holidays. Really mix it up! Maybe you bring a go-go boy named Miguel home, unexpectedly, and he gives all of your Nanas a lap dance. Believe me, it will be a gift she'll never forget. And a gift she might not even live through!

Maybe bake a little weed butter into the fruit cake, ya fruit cake! It's time your dad laughed at Christmas instead of talking about how the election was stolen. Is it "ethical" to get your whole family stoned without their consent? Probably not. But will it be absolutely hilarious? You bet you tight little ass it will!

So, dress like Mrs. Clause, or a slutty elf, and really show the world what your holiday cheer is made out of: glitter and alcoholism. Why not? If the last few years has taught us anything it is that you never know how much time you have left. And with that in mind, I want whatever time I have left to be a gay as possible. After all, isn't this what Jesus would want? He was a long hair hippy who hung out with twelve other single dudes and a hooker. He turned water into Pinot Noir, for God's sake! And he spent his Easter weekend getting nailed by a bunch of Romans on a hillside, while a group of people stood around and watched. How Folsom of him!

So, make the yuletide gay, my loves. If they didn't want us to glitter bomb the holidays, they shouldn't have written that lyric in the first place. See you next year, ya gorgeous bunch of queers!

Brad Loekle's latest comedy special & album, "Brash Boys Club" is available on Amazon, AppleTV, iTunes, and other platforms. He was a semi-finalist on NBC's "Last Comic Standing". He can be seen every week on TruTV's "World's Dumbest", has written for Joan Rivers on E! "Fashion Police" & tours internationally. His book, "My Big Gay Life" is available on Amazon. Naked Men, welcome to
Bone Island December

Pup (Kevin) and I (The Naked Realtor) are extremely happy to welcome everyone to Bone Island Bare It All. With July's event being a crazy and very fun success, we are again excited to see all our returning friends and to introduce to the newcomers our weekend of all-male naturist fun as only Key West can offer! We promise you will leave after the weekend with new friends, new experiences, and probably a little worn out. We hope you will enjoy all the fun we have in store for you.

Bone Island was started in December 2006 as a way to gather naturist men for a weekend of camaraderie and to share with them the beauty and fun of Key West. It wouldn't happen without the support and encouragement of my friends in the local community. This event is without question a community effort and I thank all our business partners for their continued assistance. They welcome us on their properties with open arms, and they and their staffs provide us fantastic venues to enjoy our weekend together. During your weekend, please show your support to all our sponsors and partners, including the servers and service people who are working hard to make sure you have a fun and comfortable visit.

We are very proud of how far Bone Island Bare It All has come since the first weekend in 2006. Each time, more men discover our unique brand of fun and go home telling their naked friends about it. I'm also thrilled with our distinction as one of The Huffington Post's "Top 13 LGBT things to do in 2013" and 2015. Finally, thank YOU for making Bone Island Bare It All the joy it is. Without you guys, I'd just be sitting in my backyard naked, as I experienced in 2020. So, thanks for choosing to make the trip down the Keys. Remember the sunscreen and to play safe. Enjoy our Bone Island!

PROPER BATHHOUSE ETIQUETTE

A while ago, my friend Michael was telling me a story about an encounter he had and while telling me the details, he spoke of some horrendous bathhouse etiquette. It was at that time that I realized, many others may need a refresher course on proper bathhouse etiquette.

Remember, everyone is there for the same purpose. No one goes to the bathhouse to meet the love of their life (though it has been known to happen.) If you're looking for a boyfriend, start with Match.com.

Shower before you start. Don't assume that the shower you took 2 hours ago is good enough. Your butt crack can get pretty stinky in two hours.

Loud talking is usually not a good idea. Quiet talk about what they're into or maybe even their name is fine. Very few guys want to know what you had for dinner. If it's not going to get in the way when you're getting pounded, they don't need to know about it.

Not everyone you're interested in will be interested in you. If you wander into the steam room and the muscle god immediately gets up to leave, he may have just had too much steam. If this happens again in another location, he may not be interested. Don't stalk him.

Also, be respectful of those that take an interest in you. If someone puts his hand on your leg, regardless of how old and fat he may be, gently push it away. Don't be rude. That will be you in 20 years! Should he be persistent, hand him this article and advise him to read the above paragraph.

Bathhouses are supposed to be dark. Using a pocket light or cell phone to see what people look like is never a good idea. You may piss someone off that didn't want to be seen. In addition, no one is as good looking as your imagination. Trust me, in a dark room, most guys look better and if you just lay back and enjoy the ride, you won't even have to know how old your trick really was.

If you start some action in a public area, don't be upset if some guys want to stand around and watch. If you don't want to be watched, take it to a room.

Should you encounter a little group getting started, it's acceptable to watch. If they're interested in you joining, they'll let you know with a nod, smile or a grope. Don't join in without an invitation. If you try to crash the party, it's likely that all the action will stop and everyone else that was watching, will be pretty annoyed, and rightfully so. They were practicing good etiquette and just watching.

Reciprocation is the key. There are lots of guys there that only want to suck as many cocks as they can. If you know that from earlier quiet conversation, then it's acceptable to walk away once you've made your contribution to the cause. If someone has worked on you for the last 20 minutes to get your goody prize, you should at least offer to assist them in their efforts. They may not want that, but at least you offered. It's rude to dump and run.

Just because he's hot doesn't mean he can charge your batteries. After you've been playing with someone, if it's not working for you, excuse yourself and move on. Be careful with lies such as "I've already gotten off three times" and "I'm not a bottom" because it's likely that in 10 minutes, he's going to see you in the hallway getting fucked by someone and shooting a load all over the place. A simple "this isn't working" gets you out the door with no worries. Plus, if it wasn't working for you, it probably wasn't working for him either.

I'm not going to lecture you all on safe sex. You're all adults and you know the risks. Assume everyone is positive and you can't go wrong. If you let someone in the backdoor, don't assume they're going to wear a condom. To be totally safe, stay on your back so you can see what's going on. Some guys may try to take it off when you can't see.

Know the rules. Bathhouse employees are not known to be the most courteous and by ignoring the rules, you'll only make things worse. Find out if you're expected to strip the bed when you leave and if you may exchange your towel. Also, know exactly how much time you have and if you're within 30 minutes of your "out" time, go up and renew now. Having your room or locker number called out in the middle of the best blowjob you've ever had can really kill the moment.

Tipping is not a dirty word. No, I'm not talking about tipping your trick (that's a whole other subject) but don't be afraid to tip the staff when you leave. It's likely that you'll be back a few times to the same place and the staff will remember you. Also, if you want to exchange your towel a few times, bring a tip each time. The employee will actually look forward to giving you a fresh towel rather than scowling at you.

Don't call ahead to ask "how busy is it?" They make their money on occupancy. If everyone called ahead, no one would go. They're not going to tell you (or they'll lie). If you're that lazy or cheap, try Grindr.

These guidelines aren't just for bathhouses. These should be applied in bookstores, guesthouses, backrooms, and anywhere else guys get together to get it on!

Dear Nana,

My sex drive has really fallen off lately. I don't mind or think about it that much but do you think it's unusual for a man in his 40s to sort of lose interest in sex?

Honey, there is nothing "unnatural" under the sun. Some people want sex all the time, some people never really understand the hype around humping. Now, I don't have a penis (attached to me) but I do know that some mean can have "Low T"... which has nothing to do with a Tea Dance and everything to do with how much testosterone you have running through those gay veins. So, if you feel like you've lost that lovin' feeling... you might want to have you doctor check your testosterone levels. But other than that, do whatever floats your boat... even if that doesn't include wetting your whistle!

Dear Nana,

With the holidays right around the corner, I'm stumped with what to get my guy that will be really special and memorable but won't cost me an arm and a leg. Any ideas?! Help!

Fear not, my little Sugar Plum fairy, we'll figure something out. Let's be real... gifts from the heart are always what we remember and cherish most. So, get your heart-on, darling! Get creative... maybe 12 days of love letters for Christmas. Make them on nice stationary etc. Or give him a book of love poems from great authors. Write little love notes and memories of him in the margins of the pages to surprise him and make it special. And, if none of that feels right, how about Chlamydia? Now there's something special and memorable that you, most likely, haven't given him before, right?!

DO YOU HAVE PROBLEMS? OF COURSE YOU DO! WHY NOT LET NANA HELP YOU?!

WHORE--SCOPES

AQUARIUS JAN 20 - FEB 18

If you need to ask the weight limit before buying a bed, it's time to go on a diet.

PISCES FEB 19 - MAR 20

Buns are for Christmas dinner, not for your head.

ARIES MAR 21 - APR 19

They say everything eventually goes back in style. Today is not that day.

TAURUS APR 20 - MAY 20

You've been the poster child for social distancing for decades, though it's really time to bathe!

GEMINI MAY 21 - JUN 20

Your smart scale is calling weight watchers!

CANCER JUN 21 - JUL 22

I'm not sure who encourages you to sing karaoke, but they need to stop.

LEO JUL 23 - AUG 22
