What is COMPLERA?

COMPLERA® is a prescription HIV medicine that is used as a complete regimen to treat HIV-1 in adults who have never taken HIV medicines before and who have an amount of HIV in their blood (this is called “viral load”) that is no more than 100,000 copies/mL. COMPLERA contains 3 medicines – rilpivirine, emtricitabine and tenofovir disoproxil fumarate. It is not known if COMPLERA is safe and effective in children under the age of 18 years.

COMPLERA® does not cure HIV-1 infection or AIDS. To control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses you must keep taking COMPLERA. Avoid doing things that can spread HIV-1 to others: always practice safer sex and use condoms to lower the chance of sexual contact with body fluids; never reuse or share needles or other items that have body fluids on them, do not share personal items that may contain bodily fluids. Ask your healthcare provider if you have questions about how to reduce the risk of passing HIV-1 to others.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is the most important information you should know about COMPLERA?

COMPLERA® can cause serious side effects:

- Build-up of an acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious medical emergency. Symptoms of lactic acidosis include feeling very weak or tired, unusual (not normal) muscle pain, trouble breathing, stomach pain with nausea or vomiting, feeling cold, especially in your arms and legs, feeling dizzy or lightheaded, and/or a fast or irregular heartbeat.
- Serious liver problems. The liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and fatty (steatosis). Symptoms of liver problems include your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice), dark “tea-colored” urine, light-colored bowel movements (stools), loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, and/or stomach pain.
- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or serious liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking COMPLERA for a long time. In some cases, these serious conditions have led to death. Call your healthcare provider right away if you have any symptoms of these conditions.

- Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. If you also have HBV and stop taking COMPLERA, your hepatitis may suddenly get worse. Do not stop taking COMPLERA without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to monitor your health. COMPLERA is not approved for the treatment of HBV.

Who should not take COMPLERA?

Do not take COMPLERA if you have ever taken other anti-HIV medicines. COMPLERA may change the effect of other medicines and may cause serious side effects. Your healthcare provider may change your other medicines or change their doses. Do not take COMPLERA if you also take these medicines:

- anti-seizure medicines: carbamazepine (Carbatrol, Equetro, Tegretol, Tegretol-XR, Teril, Eptol); oxcarbazepine (Trileptal), phenobarbital (Luminal), phenytoin (Dilantin, Dilantin-125, Phenytek)
- anti-tuberculosis medicines: rifabutin (Mycobutin), rifampin (Rifater, Rifamate, Rimactane, Rifadin) and rifapentine (Priftin)
- proton pump inhibitors for stomach or intestinal problems: esomeprazole (Nexium, Vimovo), lansoprazole (Prevacid), dexlansoprazole (Dexilant), omeprazole (Prilosec), pantoprazole sodium (Protonix), rabeprazole (Aciphex)
- more than 1 dose of the steroid medicine dexamethasone or dexamethasone sodium phosphate
- St. John’s wort (Hypericum perforatum)

If you are taking COMPLERA you should not take other HIV medicines or other medicines containing tenofovir (Viread, Truvada, Stribild or Atripla); other medicines containing emtricitabine or lamivudine (Emtriva, Combivir, Epivir, Epivir-HBV, Epzicom, Trizivir, Atripla, Stribild or Truvada); rilpivirine (Edurant) or adefovir (Hepsera).

In addition, tell your healthcare provider if you are taking the following medications because they may interfere with how COMPLERA works and may cause side effects:

- certain antacid medicines containing aluminum, magnesium hydroxide, or calcium carbonate (examples: Rolaids, TUMS). These medicines must be taken at least 2 hours before or 4 hours after COMPLERA.
- medicines to block stomach acid including cimetidine (Tagamet), famotidine (Pepcid), nizatidine (Axid), or ranitidine HCL (Zantac). These medicines must be taken at least 12 hours before or 4 hours after COMPLERA.

COMPLERA. A complete HIV treatment in only 1 pill a day.

COMPLERA is for adults who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before and have no more than 100,000 copies/mL of virus in their blood.

Ask your healthcare provider if it's the one for you.

- any of these medicines: clarithromycin (Biaxin); erythromycin (E-Mycin, Eryc, Ery-Tab, PCE, Pediazole, Ilosone), fluconazole (Diflucan), itraconazole (Sporanox), ketoconazole (Nizoral) methadone (Dolophine); posaconazole (Noxafil), telithromycin (Ketek) or voriconazole (Vfend).
- medicines that are eliminated by the kidneys like acyclovir (Zovirax), cidofovir (Vistide), ganciclovir (Cytovene IV, Vitrasert), valacyclovir (Valtrex) and valganciclovir (Valcyte).

These are not all the medicines that may cause problems if you take COMPLERA. Tell your healthcare provider about all prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, or herbal supplements you are taking or plan to take.

Before taking COMPLERA, tell your healthcare provider if you:

- Have liver problems, including hepatitis B or C virus infection, or have abnormal liver tests
- Have kidney problems
- Have ever had a mental health problem
- Have bone problems
- Are pregnant or planning to become pregnant. It is not known if COMPLERA can harm your unborn child
- Are breastfeeding. Women with HIV should not breastfeed because they can pass HIV through their milk to the baby. Also, COMPLERA may pass through breast milk and could cause harm to the baby

COMPLERA can cause additional serious side effects:

- New or worsening kidney problems, including kidney failure. If you have had kidney problems, or take other medicines that may cause kidney problems, your healthcare provider may need to do regular blood tests.
- Depression or mood changes. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any of the following symptoms: feeling sad or hopeless, feeling anxious or restless, have thoughts of hurting yourself (suicide) or have tried to hurt yourself.
- Changes in liver enzymes: People who have had hepatitis B or C, or who have had changes in their liver function tests in the past may have an increased risk for liver problems while taking COMPLERA. Some people without prior liver disease may also be at risk. Your healthcare provider may need to check your liver enzymes before and during treatment with COMPLERA.
- Bone problems can happen in some people who take COMPLERA. Bone problems include bone pain, softening or thinning (which may lead to fractures). Your healthcare provider may need to do additional tests to check your bones.

- Changes in body fat can happen in people taking HIV medicine.
- Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that have been hidden in your body for a long time. Tell your healthcare provider if you start having new symptoms after starting COMPLERA.

The most common side effects reported with COMPLERA are trouble sleeping (insomnia), abnormal dreams, headache, dizziness, diarrhea, nausea, rash, tiredness, and depression. Some side effects also reported include vomiting, stomach pain or discomfort, skin discoloration (small spots or freckles) and pain.

This is not a complete list of side effects. Tell your healthcare provider or pharmacist if you notice any side effects while taking COMPLERA, and call your healthcare provider for medical advice about side effects.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit <http://www.fda.gov/medwatch> or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Additional Information about taking COMPLERA:

- Always take COMPLERA exactly as your healthcare provider tells you to take it.
- Take COMPLERA with food. Taking COMPLERA with food is important to help get the right amount of medicine in your body. (A protein drink does not replace food. If your healthcare provider stops COMPLERA, make certain you understand how to take your new medicine and whether you need to take your new medicine with a meal.)

Stay under the care of your healthcare provider during treatment with COMPLERA and see your healthcare provider regularly.

Brief Summary of full Prescribing Information

COMPLERA® (kom-PLEH-rah)

(emtricitabine, rilpivirine, tenofovir disoproxil fumarate) tablets

Brief summary of full Prescribing Information. For more information, please see the full Prescribing Information including Patient Information.

What is COMPLERA?

- COMPLERA is a prescription HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) medicine that is used to treat HIV-1 in adults
  - who have never taken HIV medicines before, and
  - who have an amount of HIV in their blood (this is called ‘viral load’) that is no more than 100,000 copies/mL. Your healthcare provider will measure your viral load.

(HIV is the virus that causes AIDS (Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome)).

- COMPLERA contains 3 medicines – rilpivirine, emtricitabine, tenofovir disoproxil fumarate – combined in one tablet. It is a complete regimen to treat HIV-1 infection and should not be used with other HIV medicines.
- It is not known if COMPLERA is safe and effective in children under the age of 18 years old.
- COMPLERA does not cure HIV infection or AIDS. You must stay on continuous therapy to control HIV infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses.
- Ask your healthcare provider if you have any questions about how to prevent passing HIV to other people. Do not share or re-use needles or other injection equipment, and do not share personal items that can have blood or body fluids on them, like toothbrushes and razor blades. Always practice safer sex by using a latex or polyurethane condom to lower the chance of sexual contact with semen, vaginal fluids or blood.

What is the most important information I should know about COMPLERA?

COMPLERA can cause serious side effects, including:

- Build-up of an acid in your blood (lactic acidosis). Lactic acidosis can happen in some people who take COMPLERA or similar (nucleoside analogs) medicines. Lactic acidosis is a serious medical emergency that can lead to death. Lactic acidosis can be hard to identify early, because the symptoms could seem like symptoms of other health problems. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms which could be signs of lactic acidosis:
  - feel very weak or tired
  - have unusual (not normal) muscle pain
  - have trouble breathing

- have stomach pain with nausea (feeling sick to your stomach) or vomiting
- feel cold, especially in your arms and legs
- feel dizzy or lightheaded
- have a fast or irregular heartbeat

- Severe liver problems. Severe liver problems can happen in people who take COMPLERA. In some cases, these liver problems can lead to death. Your liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and you may develop fat in your liver (steatosis). Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms of liver problems:

- your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice)
- dark “tea-colored” urine
- light-colored bowel movements (stools)
- loss of appetite for several days or longer
- nausea
- stomach pain

- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or severe liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking COMPLERA for a long time.

- Worsening of Hepatitis B infection. If you have hepatitis B virus (HBV) infection and take COMPLERA, your HBV may get worse (flare-up) if you stop taking COMPLERA. A “flare-up” is when your HBV infection suddenly returns in a worse way than before. COMPLERA is not approved for the treatment of HBV, so you must discuss your HBV with your healthcare provider.

- Do not let your COMPLERA run out. Refill your prescription or talk to your healthcare provider before your COMPLERA is all gone.
- Do not stop taking COMPLERA without first talking to your healthcare provider.
- If you stop taking COMPLERA, your healthcare provider will need to check your health often and do blood tests regularly to check your HBV infection. Tell your healthcare provider about any new or unusual symptoms you may have after you stop taking COMPLERA.

Who should not take COMPLERA?

Do not take COMPLERA if:

- your HIV infection has been previously treated with HIV medicines.
- you are taking any of the following medicines:
  - anti-seizure medicines: carbamazepine (Carbatrol, Equetro, Tegretol, Tegretol-XR, Teril, Epitol); oxcarbazepine (Trileptal); phenobarbital (Luminal); phenytoin (Dilantin, Dilantin-125, Phenytek)

- anti-tuberculosis (anti-TB) medicines: rifabutin (Mycobutin); rifampin (Rifater, Rifamate, Rimactane, Rifadin); rifapentine (Priftin)
- proton pump inhibitor (PPI) medicine for certain stomach or intestinal problems: esomeprazole (Nexium, Vimovo); lansoprazole (Prevacid); dexlansoprazole (Dexilant); omeprazole (Prilosec, Zegerid); pantoprazole sodium (Protonix); rabeprazole (Aciphex)
- more than 1 dose of the steroid medicine dexamethasone or dexamethasone sodium phosphate
- St. John's wort (Hypericum perforatum)

• If you take COMPLERA, you should not take:

- Other medicines that contain tenofovir (Atripla, Stribild, Truvada, Viread)
- Other medicines that contain emtricitabine or lamivudine (Combivir, Emtriva, Eпивir or Eпивir-HBV, Epzicom, Trizivir, Atripla, Truvada, Stribild)
- rilpivirine (Edurant)
- adefovir (Hepsera)

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking COMPLERA?

Before you take COMPLERA, tell your healthcare provider if you:

- have or had liver problems, including hepatitis B or C virus infection, kidney problems, mental health problem or bone problems
- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if COMPLERA can harm your unborn child.

Pregnancy Registry. There is a pregnancy registry for women who take antiviral medicines during pregnancy. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. Talk to your healthcare provider about how you can take part in this registry.

- are breast-feeding or plan to breast-feed. You should not breastfeed if you have HIV because of the risk of passing HIV to your baby. Do not breastfeed if you are taking COMPLERA. At least two of the medicines contained in COMPLERA can be passed to your baby in your breast milk. We do not know whether this could harm your baby. Talk to your healthcare provider about the best way to feed your baby.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

- COMPLERA may affect the way other medicines work, and other medicines may affect how COMPLERA works, and may cause serious side effects. If you take certain medicines with COMPLERA, the amount of COMPLERA in your body may be too low and it may not work to help control your HIV infection. The HIV virus in your body may become resistant to COMPLERA or other HIV medicines that are like it.

Especially tell your healthcare provider if you take:

- an antacid medicine that contains aluminum, magnesium hydroxide, or calcium carbonate. If you take an antacid during treatment with COMPLERA, take the antacid at least 2 hours before or at least 4 hours after you take COMPLERA.
- a medicine to block the acid in your stomach, including cimetidine (Tagamet), famotidine (Pepcid), nizatidine (Axid), or ranitidine hydrochloride (Zantac). If you take one of these medicines during treatment with COMPLERA, take the acid blocker at least 12 hours before or at least 4 hours after you take COMPLERA.
- any of these medicines (if taken by mouth or injection):
  - clarithromycin (Biaxin)
  - erythromycin (E-Mycin, Eryc, Ery-Tab, PCE, Pediazole, Ilosone)
  - fluconazole (Diflucan)
  - itraconazole (Sporanox)
  - ketoconazole (Nizoral)
  - methadone (Dolophine)
  - posaconazole (Noxafil)
  - telithromycin (Ketek)
  - voriconazole (Vfend)
- medicines that are eliminated by the kidney, including acyclovir (Zovirax), cidofovir (Vistide), ganciclovir (Cytovene IV, Vitrasert), valganciclovir (Valtrex), and valganciclovir (Valcyte)

What are the possible side effects of COMPLERA?

COMPLERA can cause serious side effects, including:

- See “What is the most important information I should know about COMPLERA?”
- New or worse kidney problems, including kidney failure, can happen in some people who take COMPLERA. Your healthcare provider should do blood tests to check your kidneys before starting treatment with COMPLERA. If you have had kidney problems in the past or need to take another medicine that can cause kidney problems, your healthcare provider may need to do blood tests to check your kidneys during your treatment with COMPLERA.
- Depression or mood changes. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any of the following symptoms:
  - feeling sad or hopeless
  - feeling anxious or restless
  - have thoughts of hurting yourself (suicide) or have tried to hurt yourself

- Change in liver enzymes. People with a history of hepatitis B or C virus infection or who have certain liver enzyme changes may have an increased risk of developing new or worsening liver problems during treatment with COMPLERA. Liver problems can also happen during treatment with COMPLERA in people without a history of liver disease. Your healthcare provider may need to do tests to check your liver enzymes before and during treatment with COMPLERA.
- Bone problems can happen in some people who take COMPLERA. Bone problems include bone pain, softening or thinning (which may lead to fractures). Your healthcare provider may need to do additional tests to check your bones.
- Changes in body fat can happen in people taking HIV medicine. These changes may include increased amount of fat in the upper back and neck ("buffalo hump"), breast, and around the main part of your body (trunk). Loss of fat from the legs, arms and face may also happen. The cause and long term health effect of these conditions are not known.
- Changes in your immune system (Immune Reconstitution Syndrome) can happen when you start taking HIV medicines. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that have been hidden in your body for a long time. Tell your healthcare provider if you start having new symptoms after starting your HIV medicine.

The most common side effects of COMPLERA include:

- trouble sleeping (insomnia)
- abnormal dreams
- headache
- dizziness
- diarrhea
- nausea
- rash
- tiredness
- depression

Additional common side effects include:

- vomiting
- stomach pain or discomfort
- skin discoloration (small spots or freckles)
- pain

Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effect that bothers you or that does not go away.

These are not all the possible side effects of COMPLERA. For more information, ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist.

Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088 (1-800-332-1088).

How should I take COMPLERA?

- Stay under the care of your healthcare provider during treatment with COMPLERA.
- Take COMPLERA exactly as your healthcare provider tells you to take it.
- Always take COMPLERA with food. Taking COMPLERA with food is important to help get the right amount of medicine in your body. A protein drink is not a substitute for food. If your healthcare provider decides to stop COMPLERA and you are switched to new medicines to treat HIV that includes rilpivirine tablets, the rilpivirine tablets should be taken only with a meal.
- Do not change your dose or stop taking COMPLERA without first talking with your healthcare provider. See your healthcare provider regularly while taking COMPLERA.
- If you miss a dose of COMPLERA within 12 hours of the time you usually take it, take your dose of COMPLERA with food as soon as possible. Then, take your next dose of COMPLERA at the regularly scheduled time. If you miss a dose of COMPLERA by more than 12 hours of the time you usually take it, wait and then take the next dose of COMPLERA at the regularly scheduled time.
- Do not take more than your prescribed dose to make up for a missed dose.

This Brief Summary summarizes the most important information about COMPLERA. If you would like more information, talk with your healthcare provider. You can also ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist for information about COMPLERA that is written for health professionals, or call 1-800-445-3235 or go to www.COMPLERA.com

UNDER THE BOARDWALK

by: Brad Loekle

About a month ago I had to fly into Fort Lauderdale for a very quick gig. Not a show, really, but a gig. You see, in all my traveling and performing at super-gay events I've gathered a rather eclectic group of friends and fans. And, well, there's no other way to put it other than I was being flown in as a surprise Christmas present for a wealthy friend of mine by his favorite porn star/escort. Yes, I was a hooker's Christmas present to his client. Don't hate the player, envy the game! So anyhow, I was in Lauderdale for two days for dinner parties and drinks. One night, our gaggle of gays decides we're going to a place called "Boardwalk". I'm sure you're all aware of it, but I sure wasn't. When I arrived I was amazed to find it was literally every kind of gay bar wrapped into one. There was a pool table, a café that served food, two stages (one of them caged in), stripper poles, shirtless bartenders and strippers of every shape, size and flavor that you could imagine. The sort of place where you'd expect the schnozberries to taste like schnozberries. I was mesmerized, hypnotized and a little scared for my life. First of all... a "café"?! I don't shit where I eat and I'd rather not eat where other people strip. It's just too easy for the chef to confuse the lube for canola oil.

We were having a lovely time and meeting some of the local trade when I saw him across the room. 6' tall, Argentinean, neck tattoo and built like a brick shithouse. My friend immediately went over and started whispering to him. Then an undisclosed amount of money changed hands and then I saw this tan man lock eyes on me like a great white shark. It was on, bitches!

He approached me and said, "Hi, I'm Ulysses... are you Bread?" First of all, of course his name was Ulysses. Of course it was. And second, I'm often called "Bread" by South Americans. It's vowel thing. Besides, I guess you really are what you eat. Anyway, I said yes and could barely say "nice to meet you" before Ulysses had grabbed me by the throat and said "shut the fuck up, you're coming with me". I have to give my friend's credit: they know what daddy likes! Ulysses then took me, by the throat into a backroom area. For the next 45 minutes bad things happened. I mean, really really good bad things happened. He used my pink Ralph Lauren polo shirt to bind my arms behind my back (making it impossible for me to do a proper Patti Lupone "Don't Cry For Me, Argentina" arm gesture as a tribute to his culture), he also put my belt around my neck to choke me while he may or may not have fucked me and spit in my mouth. I left that room in a torn shirt with bruises, welts and bite marks and found not only all my friends waiting gleefully, but the drag queen who was hosting the night led the entire club in a round of applause for my trip under the boardwalk. All in all, it was a hell of a way to celebrate the birth of Christ with friends.

The next morning I had to fly back to LA. While waiting for my flight, I got called up to the gate by a very sweet, very gay airline agent. He told me he was a big fan of mine (which still really always surprises me and makes me feel good when people do that). He was in the middle of telling me that he thought he might be able to squeeze me in an upgrade to first class if I just waited there for a few minutes. Right then he said, "oh! Are you okay? Your neck!" I of course had no idea what he was talking about and then he said, "It's like there's almost a belt buckle bruise on your neck"... and then... without even thinking of my surroundings, I just said:

"Oh! Yeah, that's just from this Latin dude who was choke fucking me last night. It's my belt, it's not a problem".

Then I saw his face and realized what I'd just said at 9AM in an airport. There was about a 10 second pause where we made intense, Avatar-esque, eye contact; then he said, "That is the best thing anyone has ever said to me at this job in 11 years. I'm moving you up to First Class. You're my hero".

Just another gay in the life of Brad Loekle, kids! Oh yeah, Happy Valentine's Day.

ZACHARY MOSES : MAN ABOUT TOWN

It's been cold...by Key West standards. I know it's no arctic vortex like they had up north, but drizzly weather and fifties at night in a town built without heaters can be a bit miserable.

I like to get out when it's raining, so when it was pouring rain the other day, I took a trip to Cafe Moka. There are few places in town better to sit at on a cold rainy day than the porch of Cafe Moka. This little coffee bar located at 1211 Duval is the perfect place to sit drinking a hot cup of spiked Joe. I love to kick back and watch the wet tourists attempt to stay dry under their flimsy paper maps of Key West. In addition to Moka's charming front porch, they have a large covered side porch with seating for a dozen people. If you prefer cozy comfort, they also have some nice overstuffed couches inside.

As it was still raining I went to the Tropic Cinema and caught a matinee movie. There really is no better day to go to a mid-day movie than on a rainy one. I loathe going to movies on bright sunny beach afternoons, but when it rains. Bring it on. The Tropic is located at 416 Eaton Street and specializes in Indy Films. The theater is full of retro charm, and they put real butter on their popcorn! If you like something really special, try putting a little nutritional yeast on your popcorn, it's unbelievably delicious. Did I mention that you can order a beer or a glass of wine to drink during your movie?

After my movie was finished, it was still raining! WTF?? I'm used to Key West having only 10-minute rain storms. I had my umbrella, so I decided to make the best of it and walked over to Fort Zachary Taylor State Park. It was really neat walking around the empty fort in the rain. Honestly it was the best visit I've ever had to Fort Zach. If you are looking for the entrance, just head west on Southard St. You'll go through the Truman annex, and eventually find the entrance to Fort Zach. Since you have to pay to get into the park, you will enjoy a higher-quality beach experience, with no homeless people bathing in the drinking fountains (a normal occurrence at most tropical beaches.)

Rain was still coming down, as I made my way back into town. I wandered the streets for a while, then eventually ended up at the rooftop and Garden of Eden clothing optional bar located at 224 Duval. I wrapped up a very enjoyable day sitting at the bar watching a group of young men who were fresh off a cruise ship rip each other's wet tee shirts off. All in all, I'd say I almost preferred a rainy day in Key West to the usual sunny ones.

“Ham: Slices of a Life”

by Sam Harris

c.2014, Gallery Books

$26.00

304 pages

Okay, pay attention.

Sometimes, that's all you need: just someone to watch you, to hear what you're saying or understand your feelings. A little attention can be a bad-mood squasher, a good-mood enhancer, or just validation.

Yes, a minute in the spotlight can do wonders. And as you'll see in “Ham: Slices of a Life” by Sam Harris, hogging that spotlight can be even better.

From the time he was three years old, growing up in Sand Springs, Oklahoma, Sam Harris embraced the dramatic.

For his third Christmas, he received a special overcoat which made him dance. By ten, he had talked his parents into allowing him to be baptized, the after-applause being more important than receiving the Holy Ghost. He loved putting on shows in his parents' basement, doing local community theatre, and acting in school performances. He was unabashed about his love of the limelight.

When he was just 15, his father lied about Harris' age so Harris could take a summer stage job in St. Louis. A year later, though he'd known for a long time that he was "different," and though it caused him anguished guilt and family strife, Harris fell in love with another boy on another stage in Nashville.

A short time in college proved to Harris that education wouldn't make his dream come true, so he "hunted out" his stage presence in dark, colorless, largely-empty clubs. Agents and producers "occasionally came slumming," but little happened until Harris finally found someone who believed in him: his father hired Jerry Blatt, who was Bette Midler's writer/director, as a gift. Skeptical Harris figured it would be just another disappointment, but Blatt would "become the single most important influence... and the greatest gift my dad, or anyone, ever gave me."

In this memoir, Harris writes about growing up, and how his family had the misfortune to experience home-fires - twice. He writes of falling in love with Mr. Wrong, then meeting his husband, falling in love again, and wanting a child so badly that he couldn't stand seeing other children. He explains his career and his almost-didn't-happen appearance on Star Search. He dishes stories of famous friends, on-stage nemeses, alcoholism, being "different," and being gay.

I'm normally not a fan of books that scramble their timelines, but in "Ham: Slices of a Life," that bouncing around works. It works well.

Maybe that's because author Sam Harris writes with bouncing-on-your-toes energy, rushing from subject to subject with the occasional lingering moment to ponder things that are important to him. His is an eagerness that's endearing.

Some of the essays in this book are funny. "Liver" will put a new metaphor in your vocabulary. The story of Liza Minelli's wedding is hilarious, and Harris' memories of his friend, Jerry, made me get a little teary.

With humor, soul-baring, name-dropping, and just the right mix of vulnerability and snarkiness, this book is a definite pleasure to read. If you're looking for a memoir that you can enjoy, whole-hog, "Ham: Slices of a Life" should get your attention.

Some people can't seem to stay out of trouble. Five hours out of jail and picked up for skipping out on a tab. Welcome back to the Stock Island Hilton!

It seems some people find tricks just anywhere. Ask the local that sucked off a guy in the Denny's parking lot or got plowed hard right along side someone's house.

We hear from so many people telling us how often some people are on Grindr, Scruff, and Manhunt. Hello to the person that is telling us. How often are you on that you know that?

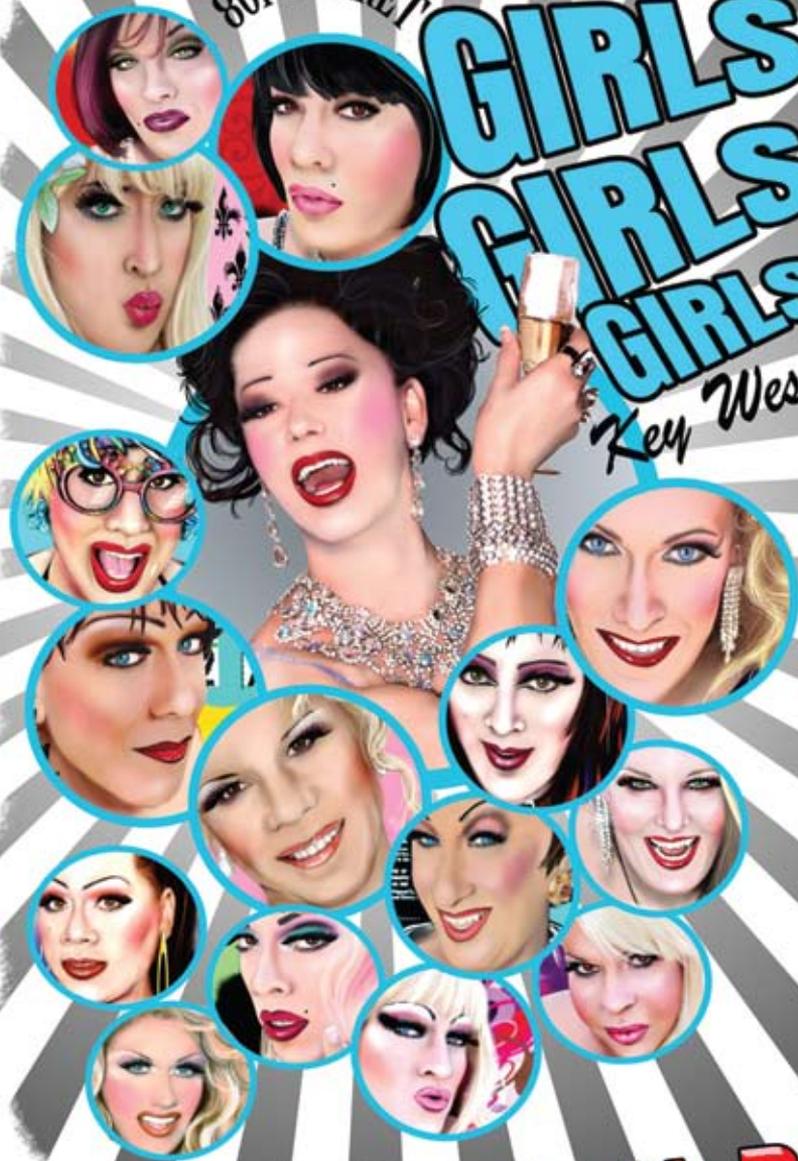

We've heard a certain local is heading up north for a "procedure" so that he will be totally healed in time for gay spring break.

It seems that so many people are now skipping out on tabs that there is a Facebook page called Tip-Advisor Key West Edition. We suspect there will be more familiar faces on this page in the coming months.

Ask Nana

E-mail your questions to nana@keywestgayrag.com

Dear Nana,

I'm really worried that my boyfriend doesn't poop enough. He poops like twice a week?! He thinks I'm some sort of poop Nazi and that it doesn't matter when you poop. Can you please settle this debate for us?

First, let's all take a moment to really take in the phrase "Poop Nazi". There, now that we've had a moment, let's move on. I hate to be the one to burst your boyfriend's doodie bubble, but he is definitely not pooping enough. Unless he's only eating two times a week, he should be pooping more than 2 times a week. Now I'm no Dr. Oz, hell, I'm barely a Dr. Phil, but I know there are plenty of reasons why this could be happening. It could be a simple a thing as dehydration and diet or it could be something more serious and real. My advice is for him to not seek medical advice from an old fag hag in the bag of a magazine where people look for the addresses of places they can get their dicks sucked. Probably a good idea for him to have an annual checkup and mention it to his doctor.

Dear Nana,

My mother wants to come for a visit and she always wants to stay with me. I love my mother and it's not that I don't want her around but my place is fairly small and it just tends to be "A LOT" when she stays at my place. I'd be totally willing to pay for her hotel just for the hassle it would save me. But my question is how do I make that happen without risking hurting her feelings that I don't want her staying in my place. Because she will hold a grudge, believe me.

I'm going to advocate two very different tactics and then you decide which one you're man enough for. First, and this is the old school way, just lie to the bitch! Tell her the landlord has to fix the bathroom or there are bedbugs or a leak in the pipe etc. If she's still gonna come to the place to see you, put some plastic up around the shower or kitchen etc to make it look real and then she'll be forced to stay somewhere else. The problem with this (other than you're lying to your mother and will burn in hell) is that you can't keep up the ruse each and every time she wants to come for a visit. So it's a short term solution to your maternal mayhem. Then other option is to be an adult and treat your mom like an adult. Simply explain to her that your place isn't huge and that it would be easier and more enjoyable if you put her up in a nice hotel. You never know, she might end up liking the privacy and space. And if she starts to guilt trip you, simply shut it down. Tell her you're a grown ass man and you don't want to live with your mommy. And if that doesn't work, let her come to stay one more time and put A LOT of lube, condoms and Tom of Finland artwork around the place. It shouldn't be a problem after that.

*Do you have problems? Of course you do!!
Why not let Nana help you?! Send your questions to:
