FROM YOUR HOST

Welcome to Cayo Hueso!

2013 is a big year for us! 500 years ago, the Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de Leon first discovered Florida. His Spanish brethren soon named our little island Cayo Hueso, or Bone Island. Who knew those Spaniard's were so kinky? OK, maybe we are thinking of something different then they were when we use that title! Regardless, we owe it to our Spanish friends for the well known name that now attracts men from around the world to our Bone Island.

We are very excited to share this July's Bone Island Bare It All with our many returning friends. Even more so, we are excited to introduce the continuing newcomers to our weekend of all-male naturist fun as only Key West can offer! We promise you will leave after the weekend with new friends, new experiences, and maybe just a little worn out. We've been busy for months planning this weekend. We hope you will enjoy all the fun we have in store – including a few surprises.

I started Bone Island eight years ago as a way to gather naturists for a weekend of camaraderie and share with them the beauty and fun of Key West. It wouldn't happen without the support and encouragement of my friends in the local community. This event is without question a community effort and I thank all of our business partners for their continued assistance. In particular, I want to thank Joe Schroeder and The Bourbon St Complex for their incredible support from the beginning and Jon Allen with The Island House for Men. They welcome us on their properties with open arms, and they and their staffs provide us fantastic venues to enjoy our weekend together. During your weekend, please show your support to all of our sponsors and partners, including the servers and service people who are working hard to make sure you have a fun and comfortable visit.

I'm very proud of how far Bone Island Bare It All has come since the first weekend in December 2006. Each time, more men discover our unique brand of fun and go home telling their buddies about it. I'm also thrilled with our recent distinction as one of The Huffington Post's "Top 13 LGBT things to do in 2013". Finally, thank YOU for making Bone Island Bare It All the joy it is. Without you guys, I'd just be sitting in my backyard naked. So thanks for choosing to make the trip down the Keys. Remember the sunscreen and to play safe. Enjoy our Bone Island!

What is COMPLERA?

COMPLERA® is a prescription HIV medicine that is used as a complete regimen to treat HIV-1 in adults who have never taken HIV medicines before and who have an amount of HIV in their blood (this is called “viral load”) that is no more than 100,000 copies/mL. COMPLERA contains 3 medicines — rilpivirine, emtricitabine and tenofovir disoproxil fumarate. It is not known if COMPLERA is safe and effective in children under the age of 18 years.

COMPLERA® does not cure HIV-1 infection or AIDS. To control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses you must keep taking COMPLERA. Avoid doing things that can spread HIV-1 to others: always practice safer sex and use condoms to lower the chance of sexual contact with body fluids; never reuse or share needles or other items that have body fluids on them, do not share personal items that may contain bodily fluids. Ask your healthcare provider if you have questions about how to reduce the risk of passing HIV-1 to others.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is the most important information you should know about COMPLERA?

COMPLERA® can cause serious side effects:

- Build-up of an acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious medical emergency. Symptoms of lactic acidosis include feeling very weak or tired, unusual (not normal) muscle pain, trouble breathing, stomach pain with nausea or vomiting, feeling cold, especially in your arms and legs, feeling dizzy or lightheaded, and/or a fast or irregular heartbeat.
- Serious liver problems. The liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and fatty (steatosis). Symptoms of liver problems include your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice), dark “tea-colored” urine, light-colored bowel movements (stools), loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, and/or stomach pain.
- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or serious liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking COMPLERA for a long time. In some cases, these serious conditions have led to death. Call your healthcare provider right away if you have any symptoms of these conditions.

- Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. If you also have HBV and stop taking COMPLERA, your hepatitis may suddenly get worse. Do not stop taking COMPLERA without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to monitor your health. COMPLERA is not approved for the treatment of HBV.

Who should not take COMPLERA?

Do not take COMPLERA if you have ever taken other anti-HIV medicines. COMPLERA may change the effect of other medicines and may cause serious side effects. Your healthcare provider may change your other medicines or change their doses. Do not take COMPLERA if you also take these medicines:

- anti-seizure medicines: carbamazepine (Carbatrol, Equetro, Tegretol, Tegretol-XR, Teril, Eptol); oxcarbazepine (Trileptal), phenobarbital (Luminal), phenytoin (Dilantin, Dilantin-125, Phenytek)
- anti-tuberculosis medicines: rifabutin (Mycobutin), rifampin (Rifater, Rifamate, Rimactane, Rifadin) and rifapentine (Priftin)
- proton pump inhibitors for stomach or intestinal problems: esomeprazole (Nexium, Vimovo), lansoprazole (Prevacid), dexlansoprazole (Dexilant), omeprazole (Prilosec), pantoprazole sodium (Protonix), rabeprazole (Aciphex)
- more than 1 dose of the steroid medicine dexamethasone or dexamethasone sodium phosphate
- St. John’s wort (Hypericum perforatum)

If you are taking COMPLERA you should not take other HIV medicines or other medicines containing tenofovir (Viread, Truvada, Stribild or Atripla); other medicines containing emtricitabine or lamivudine (Emtriva, Combivir, Epivir, Epivir-HBV, Epcicom, Trizivir, Atripla, Stribild or Truvada); rilpivirine (Edurant) or adefovir (Hepsera).

In addition, tell your healthcare provider if you are taking the following medications because they may interfere with how COMPLERA works and may cause side effects:

- certain antacid medicines containing aluminum, magnesium hydroxide, or calcium carbonate (examples: Rolaids, TUMS). These medicines must be taken at least 2 hours before or 4 hours after COMPLERA.
- medicines to block stomach acid including cimetidine (Tagamet), famotidine (Pepcid), nizatidine (Axid), or ranitidine HCL (Zantac). These medicines must be taken at least 12 hours before or 4 hours after COMPLERA.

COMPLERA. A complete HIV treatment in only 1 pill a day.

COMPLERA is for adults who have never taken HIV-1 medicines before and have no more than 100,000 copies/mL of virus in their blood.

Ask your healthcare provider if it's the one for you.

- any of these medicines: clarithromycin (Biaxin); erythromycin (E-Mycin, Eryc, Ery-Tab, PCE, Pediazole, Ilosone), fluconazole (Diflucan), itraconazole (Sporanox), ketoconazole (Nizoral) methadone (Dolophine); posaconazole (Noxifil), telithromycin (Ketek) or voriconazole (Vfend).
- medicines that are eliminated by the kidneys like acyclovir (Zovirax), cidofovir (Vistide), ganciclovir (Cytovene IV, Vitrasert), valacyclovir (Valtrex) and valganciclovir (Valcyte).

These are not all the medicines that may cause problems if you take COMPLERA. Tell your healthcare provider about all prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, or herbal supplements you are taking or plan to take.

Before taking COMPLERA, tell your healthcare provider if you:

- Have liver problems, including hepatitis B or C virus infection, or have abnormal liver tests
- Have kidney problems
- Have ever had a mental health problem
- Have bone problems
- Are pregnant or planning to become pregnant. It is not known if COMPLERA can harm your unborn child
- Are breastfeeding: Women with HIV should not breastfeed because they can pass HIV through their milk to the baby. Also, COMPLERA may pass through breast milk and could cause harm to the baby

COMPLERA can cause additional serious side effects:

- New or worsening kidney problems, including kidney failure. If you have had kidney problems, or take other medicines that may cause kidney problems, your healthcare provider may need to do regular blood tests.
- Depression or mood changes. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any of the following symptoms: feeling sad or hopeless, feeling anxious or restless, have thoughts of hurting yourself (suicide) or have tried to hurt yourself.
- Changes in liver enzymes: People who have had hepatitis B or C, or who have had changes in their liver function tests in the past may have an increased risk for liver problems while taking COMPLERA. Some people without prior liver disease may also be at risk. Your healthcare provider may need to check your liver enzymes before and during treatment with COMPLERA.

- Bone problems can happen in some people who take COMPLERA. Bone problems include bone pain, softening or thinning (which may lead to fractures). Your healthcare provider may need to do additional tests to check your bones.
- Changes in body fat can happen in people taking HIV medicine.
- Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that have been hidden in your body for a long time. Tell your healthcare provider if you start having new symptoms after starting COMPLERA.

The most common side effects reported with COMPLERA are trouble sleeping (insomnia), abnormal dreams, headache, dizziness, diarrhea, nausea, rash, tiredness, and depression. Some side effects also reported include vomiting, stomach pain or discomfort, skin discoloration (small spots or freckles) and pain.

This is not a complete list of side effects. Tell your healthcare provider or pharmacist if you notice any side effects while taking COMPLERA, and call your healthcare provider for medical advice about side effects.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit <http://www.fda.gov/medwatch> or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Additional Information about taking COMPLERA:

- Always take COMPLERA exactly as your healthcare provider tells you to take it.
- Take COMPLERA with a meal. Taking COMPLERA with a meal is important to help get the right amount of medicine in your body. (A protein drink does not replace a meal).

Stay under the care of your healthcare provider during treatment with COMPLERA and see your healthcare provider regularly.

COMPLERA® (kom-PLUH-rah)

(emtricitabine, rilpivirine, tenofovir disoproxil fumarate) tablets

Brief summary of full Prescribing Information. For more information, please see the full Prescribing Information including Patient Information.

What is COMPLERA?

- COMPLERA is a prescription HIV (Human Immunodeficiency Virus) medicine that is used to treat HIV-1 in adults
 - who have never taken HIV medicines before, and
 - who have an amount of HIV in their blood (this is called ‘viral load’) that is no more than 100,000 copies/mL. Your healthcare provider will measure your viral load.

(HIV is the virus that causes AIDS (Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome)).

- COMPLERA contains 3 medicines – rilpivirine, emtricitabine, tenofovir disoproxil fumarate – combined in one tablet. It is a complete regimen to treat HIV-1 infection and should not be used with other HIV medicines.
- It is not known if COMPLERA is safe and effective in children under the age of 18 years old.
- COMPLERA does not cure HIV infection or AIDS. You must stay on continuous therapy to control HIV infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses.
- Ask your healthcare provider if you have any questions about how to prevent passing HIV to other people. Do not share or re-use needles or other injection equipment, and do not share personal items that can have blood or body fluids on them, like toothbrushes and razor blades. Always practice safer sex by using a latex or polyurethane condom to lower the chance of sexual contact with semen, vaginal fluids or blood.

What is the most important information I should know about COMPLERA?

COMPLERA can cause serious side effects, including:

- Build-up of lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis). Lactic acidosis can happen in some people who take COMPLERA or similar (nucleoside analogs) medicines. Lactic acidosis is a serious medical emergency that can lead to death. Lactic acidosis can be hard to identify early, because the symptoms could seem like symptoms of other health problems. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms which could be signs of lactic acidosis:
 - feel very weak or tired
 - have unusual (not normal) muscle pain
 - have trouble breathing

- have stomach pain with nausea (feeling sick to your stomach) or vomiting
- feel cold, especially in your arms and legs
- feel dizzy or lightheaded
- have a fast or irregular heartbeat

- Severe liver problems. Severe liver problems can happen in people who take COMPLERA. In some cases, these liver problems can lead to death. Your liver may become large (hepatomegaly) and you may develop fat in your liver (steatosis). Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms of liver problems:

- your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice)
- dark “tea-colored” urine
- light-colored bowel movements (stools)
- loss of appetite for several days or longer
- nausea
- stomach pain

- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or severe liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking COMPLERA for a long time.

- Worsening of Hepatitis B infection. If you have hepatitis B virus (HBV) infection and take COMPLERA, your HBV may get worse (flare-up) if you stop taking COMPLERA. A “flare-up” is when your HBV infection suddenly returns in a worse way than before. COMPLERA is not approved for the treatment of HBV, so you must discuss your HBV with your healthcare provider.

- Do not let your COMPLERA run out. Refill your prescription or talk to your healthcare provider before your COMPLERA is all gone.
- Do not stop taking COMPLERA without first talking to your healthcare provider.
- If you stop taking COMPLERA, your healthcare provider will need to check your health often and do blood tests regularly to check your HBV infection. Tell your healthcare provider about any new or unusual symptoms you may have after you stop taking COMPLERA.

Who should not take COMPLERA?

Do not take COMPLERA if:

- your HIV infection has been previously treated with HIV medicines.
- you are taking any of the following medicines:
 - anti-seizure medicines: carbamazepine (Carbatrol, Equetro, Tegretol, Tegretol-XR, Teril, Eptol); oxcarbazepine (Trileptal); phenobarbital (Luminal); phenytoin (Dilantin, Dilantin-125, Phenytek)

- anti-tuberculosis (anti-TB) medicines: rifabutin (Mycobutin); rifampin (Rifater, Rifamate, Rimactane, Rifadin); rifapentine (Priftin)
- proton pump inhibitor (PPI) medicine for certain stomach or intestinal problems: esomeprazole (Nexium, Vimovo); lansoprazole (Prevacid); dexlansoprazole (Dexilant); omeprazole (Prilosec, Zegerid); pantoprazole sodium (Protonix); rabeprazole (Aciphex)
- more than 1 dose of the steroid medicine dexamethasone or dexamethasone sodium phosphate
- St. John's wort (Hypericum perforatum)

• If you take COMPLERA, you should not take:

- Other medicines that contain tenofovir (Atripla, Stribild, Truvada, Viread)
- Other medicines that contain emtricitabine or lamivudine (Combivir, Emtriva, Eпивir or Eпивir-HBV, Epicom, Trizivir, Atripla, Truvada, Stribild)
- rilpivirine (Edurant)
- adefovir (Hepsera)

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking COMPLERA?

Before you take COMPLERA, tell your healthcare provider if you:

- have or had liver problems, including hepatitis B or C virus infection, kidney problems, mental health problem or bone problems
- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if COMPLERA can harm your unborn child.

Pregnancy Registry. There is a pregnancy registry for women who take antiviral medicines during pregnancy. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. Talk to your healthcare provider about how you can take part in this registry.

- are breast-feeding or plan to breast-feed. You should not breastfeed if you have HIV because of the risk of passing HIV to your baby. Do not breastfeed if you are taking COMPLERA. At least two of the medicines contained in COMPLERA can be passed to your baby in your breast milk. We do not know whether this could harm your baby. Talk to your healthcare provider about the best way to feed your baby.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and nonprescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

- COMPLERA may affect the way other medicines work, and other medicines may affect how COMPLERA works, and may cause serious side effects. If you take certain medicines with COMPLERA, the amount of COMPLERA in your body may be too low and it may not work to help control your HIV infection. The HIV virus in your body may become resistant to COMPLERA or other HIV medicines that are like it.

Especially tell your healthcare provider if you take:

- an antacid medicine that contains aluminum, magnesium hydroxide, or calcium carbonate. If you take an antacid during treatment with COMPLERA, take the antacid at least 2 hours before or at least 4 hours after you take COMPLERA.
- a medicine to block the acid in your stomach, including cimetidine (Tagamet), famotidine (Pepcid), nizatidine (Axid), or ranitidine hydrochloride (Zantac). If you take one of these medicines during treatment with COMPLERA, take the acid blocker at least 12 hours before or at least 4 hours after you take COMPLERA.
- any of these medicines (if taken by mouth or injection):
 - clarithromycin (Biaxin)
 - erythromycin (E-Mycin, Eryc, Ery-Tab, PCE, Pediazole, Ilosone)
 - fluconazole (Diflucan)
 - itraconazole (Sporanox)
 - ketoconazole (Nizoral)
 - methadone (Dolophine)
 - posaconazole (Noxafil)
 - telithromycin (Ketek)
 - voriconazole (Vfend)
- medicines that are eliminated by the kidney, including acyclovir (Zovirax), cidofovir (Vistide), ganciclovir (Cytovene IV, Vitrasert), valacyclovir (Valtrex), and valganciclovir (Valcyte)

What are the possible side effects of COMPLERA?

COMPLERA can cause serious side effects, including:

- See “What is the most important information I should know about COMPLERA?”
- New or worse kidney problems, including kidney failure, can happen in some people who take COMPLERA. Your healthcare provider should do blood tests to check your kidneys before starting treatment with COMPLERA. If you have had kidney problems in the past or need to take another medicine that can cause kidney problems, your healthcare provider may need to do blood tests to check your kidneys during your treatment with COMPLERA.
- Depression or mood changes. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any of the following symptoms:
 - feeling sad or hopeless
 - feeling anxious or restless
 - have thoughts of hurting yourself (suicide) or have tried to hurt yourself

• Change in liver enzymes. People with a history of hepatitis B or C virus infection or who have certain liver enzyme changes may have an increased risk of developing new or worsening liver problems during treatment with COMPLERA. Liver problems can also happen during treatment with COMPLERA in people without a history of liver disease. Your healthcare provider may need to do tests to check your liver enzymes before and during treatment with COMPLERA.

• Bone problems can happen in some people who take COMPLERA. Bone problems include bone pain, softening or thinning (which may lead to fractures). Your healthcare provider may need to do additional tests to check your bones.

• Changes in body fat can happen in people taking HIV medicine. These changes may include increased amount of fat in the upper back and neck (“buffalo hump”), breast, and around the main part of your body (trunk). Loss of fat from the legs, arms and face may also happen. The cause and long term health effect of these conditions are not known.

• Changes in your immune system (Immune Reconstitution Syndrome) can happen when you start taking HIV medicines. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that have been hidden in your body for a long time. Tell your healthcare provider if you start having new symptoms after starting your HIV medicine.

The most common side effects of COMPLERA include:

- trouble sleeping (insomnia)
- abnormal dreams
- headache
- dizziness
- diarrhea
- nausea
- rash
- tiredness
- depression

Additional common side effects include:

- vomiting
- stomach pain or discomfort
- skin discoloration (small spots or freckles)
- pain

Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effect that bothers you or that does not go away.

These are not all the possible side effects of COMPLERA. For more information, ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist.

Call your doctor for medical advice about side effects. You may report side effects to FDA at 1-800-FDA-1088 (1-800-332-1088).

How should I take COMPLERA?

- Stay under the care of your healthcare provider during treatment with COMPLERA.
- Take COMPLERA exactly as your healthcare provider tells you to take it.
- Always take COMPLERA with a meal. Taking COMPLERA with a meal is important to help get the right amount of medicine in your body. A protein drink does not replace a meal.
- Do not change your dose or stop taking COMPLERA without first talking with your healthcare provider. See your healthcare provider regularly while taking COMPLERA.
- If you miss a dose of COMPLERA within 12 hours of the time you usually take it, take your dose of COMPLERA with a meal as soon as possible. Then, take your next dose of COMPLERA at the regularly scheduled time. If you miss a dose of COMPLERA by more than 12 hours of the time you usually take it, wait and then take the next dose of COMPLERA at the regularly scheduled time.
- Do not take more than your prescribed dose to make up for a missed dose.

This Brief Summary summarizes the most important information about COMPLERA. If you would like more information, talk with your healthcare provider. You can also ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist for information about COMPLERA that is written for health professionals, or call 1-800-445-3235 or go to www.COMPLERA.com

CALIFORNIA DREAMING

by: Brad Loekle

Well, after 3 months of touring and international gay cruises, I have finally touched down in Hollywood, California. This move was a long time coming but it's definitely where I need to be for work... and for my own mental well being. Let's just say that the last year living in NYC had gotten me to the point where I was pretty sure I was going to either swan dive off the Statue of Liberty... or blow her up. On my last return to NYC before the move, the cab driver from the airport first tried to convert me to Islam... and then when that didn't work, he asked for a blow job in exchange for a free ride. Ah, always a class act, NYC. And then there was, of course, when I saw a man in a BMW almost hit a homeless man in a crosswalk. He yelled at the homeless man violently... so the homeless man pulled down his pants and shit on the hood of his car. Delightful. So it was time for both a career changing move and for a lifestyle changing move. And the lifestyle here in California is definitely a change. The other day at a red light I looked out my window to see a hummingbird flitting around my car. A mother fucking hummingbird... in a city?! As a New Yorker, I felt like I was suddenly in Narnia. I mean, seriously, if a talking lion had walked up to my car and handed me a sword, I would have been less surprised. And I'll admit, even my old jaded heart gets a little weepy and star struck when every time I leave my apt and turn the corner, I see the Hollywood sign. But there are a few things to get used to in LA and should you ever come for a visit, they're good things to know.

First, freeways are not nearly as bad as everyone makes them out to be. I mean, it sucks to be in traffic, but everyone made them sound like some sort of terrifying gauntlet of motor vehicle violence. As if it was gonna be some Mad Max shit with Priuses whose hubcaps have machetes welded to them. Freeways are highways, people. Relax, LA.

Second, LA loves testing you for AIDS. Seriously, it's almost creepy. Almost every gay bar in town has a mobile HIV testing van outside of it. Talk about too soon. I mean I just finished having questionable sex in the handicapped stall at The Eagle... give me a minute to seroconvert! And it isn't just in front of a gay bar that you can get a quick blood test. There are even thrift shops in this town that will take your blood. Because, ya know, when you think medical hygiene, you think "thrift shop".

And finally, the most important thing to know about LA is, if you're into this sort of thing... the drugs are amazing. AMAZING. First of all... weed is legal. This would explain why there's so much traffic. Because everyone's driving 23mph and thinks they're doing 50. And the pot shops don't just sell weed, they sell designer weed. I mean, I've been to wine tastings in France that weren't as grand as some of the weed descriptions I've been shown. Also they don't just sell it as weed. You can get lollipops and brownies and bread and jolly ranchers and licorice and candy bars. I swear it's like the scene from Willy Wonda when Gene Wilder let's them all run through the candy land next to the chocolate river. And after one of the jolly rancher's, you'll think you're actually in that movie! Hell, they even give you a little gift with purchase to entice you to come back soon! So just know that when people talk about the laid back, chill California lifestyle. It isn't the surf and sun and yoga that cause that. It's the fact that everyone is tripping balls on everlasting gobstoppers of sweet sticky Kush.

Brad Loekle is a comedian currently living in LA. He can be seen Thursday nights on TruTV's "World's Dumbest" at 9PM & tours extensively on Atlantis Events & RSVP gay cruises.

Ask Nana

E-mail your questions to nana@keywestgayrag.com

Dear Nana,

I have straight couple friends who have been asking me a lot of anal sex. They admitted that the husband likes it when the wife puts her finger in his butt and now they want to take it to the next level. It's not like I'm a prude and I don't mind talking them through it, but I'm starting to worry that her husband might be gay, or at least Bi. Should I bring that up?

Good lord, can't a wife finger bang a husband anymore without you kids stitching the "Lavender Letter" to his lapel? First of all, there is plenty of medical science to back up men wanting it in the back door. Your G-spot is the prostate and the quickest route to that is down the Hershey Highway. That has nothing to do with sexuality, it's just plain anatomy. Now, sadly, we live in a society where straight men are programmed from a very early age to avoid penetration at all costs. Now just because this particular breeder was able to do away with this ridiculous anal anxiety doesn't mean he's all lubed up for man on man action. It also worries me that you're "worried" he might be gay or Bi. Neither of which are things to be worried about. He's not "16 & Pregnant" he's just 34 & on all fours. I seriously doubt he's gay. If he were gay and in the closet and married to a woman, he would be the last one asking to get ham slammed... and certainly not discussing it openly with friends. Could he be Bi? Sure. And maybe she is too. If they don't seem to be worried about it (and they don't because they're openly and happily talking about anal play with a friend over coffee), then there's no need for you to be worried about it. I'd give them the best advice you can, tell them to buy some toys and go to town on each other. Oh, and remember to tell them LOTS OF LUBE. Remember, this is not a well trained gay asshole you're talking about. He's gonna want as little friction as possible in the beginning. Remember you're trying to start an orgasm, not a camp fire.

Dear Nana,

I really want to tell a friend of mine that I like him as more than just friends. We've known each other for awhile now, but recently we've been spending more time together and my feelings for him have really grown. He's an amazing friend and I don't want to do anything to risk that. But I also don't want to miss out on someone who could be the love of my life because I was just too chicken to attempt it. What should I do?! HELP!

Well, Sugar Bear, that's a bit of a toughie. If you live long enough, you go through something like this and sometimes it's happily ever after... and other times it's more like a horror movie. In the end, if you approach it like an adult, and this friendship is really as strong as you say it is, you'll still be able to be friends no matter what. First of all you have to be honest with him. If someone loves you, in any way, telling them your feelings should never be a bad thing. But you also have to be prepared for him to not be on the same page as you. And if that is the case, it's up to YOU to make sure you don't lose your friend over hurt feelings. Now, let's say he does have feelings for you. And you two kiss and the violins swell and your vagina gets all romantic and sloppy. Well then, yay! Congrats! NOW, remember that your wonderful friendship doesn't just automatically translate into a wonderful marriage. You don't get to skip all the hard work for being with him as a partner because you guys were bosom buddies for a bunch of years. Sex and love change the game. We all wish they didn't, but they do. So keep that in mind and you should be okay. Good luck, love bug!

ZACHARY MOSES : MAN ABOUT TOWN

This weekend, I realized that I hadn't been out on the water in months. Before I moved to Key West, I was a surfing and sailing instructor in northern Florida, where I spent about twelve hours a day refraining from strangling other people precious children. Seriously, have you ever tried to teach an eight year old kid how to sail? After the Nth time he jumps off the back of the sailboat laughing, it's really tempting to just sail back to shore and tell mommy "I'm not sure where he went."

With all the storms we've been having, I decided that the best way to stick it to Mother Nature is to harness her annoying wind and use it to move a boat around. At Smather's Beach we rented a 14-ft Hobie Cat sailboat from Sunset Watersports. The highlight of the excursion was when a dolphin actually jumped out and did a backflip right in front of us! Dolphins are as smooth and hairless as the Naired back of a Key West Drag Queen!

When we got back to shore, we were famished! We rode bicycles to the opposite side of the island and got lunch at Kojin Noodle House. Kojin is a relatively new Japanese restaurant at 502 Southard, just off Duval. They have huge windows facing the street that allow for watching all the cute boys go by. It's also located around the corner from my office... well, I don't know if I can call the Bourbon Street Pub gay bar my office (I don't think drinking beer in a bar counts as work, even if it is during normal business hours).

My usual lunch at Kojin is either the house ramen (which is even better with copious amounts of chili garlic sauce) or the curried lamb, which, despite the skinny noodles, reminds me of really thick, juicy... um... lamb stew. Despite how delicious "the usual" is, I decided to branch out this week, and got the Yellow Curried Pork Shoulder over jasmine rice with currants, scallions, peanuts and cilantro. WOW! This dish is AMAZING! All the flavors go so well together; plus, It was overcast today and the spiciness really perked me up! Afterward, I needed a cold drink. Normally I would have stayed and ordered Sake, but I wanted to take advantage of break in the cloud cover, so we headed up Duval.

We ended up at Rick's Tree Bar, which isn't exactly in a gay neighborhood (as in, situated right next door to the Red Garter Titty bar); but they do mix up some fantastic drinks using fresh-squeezed citrus juices. Plus, the bartenders are super-hot, muscle-men with really thick... necks. I suggest sitting at the end of the bar facing Duval, the best spot for watching straight guys make asses of themselves with women. When I see one get rejected... well...we all know the difference between a straight man and a gay man is a six pack of beer... and I'm buying!
