GENVOYA does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS. To control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses, you must keep taking GENVOYA. Ask your healthcare provider if you have questions about how to reduce the risk of passing HIV-1 to others. Always practice safer sex and use condoms to lower the chance of sexual contact with body fluids. Never reuse or share needles or other items that have body fluids on them.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is the most important information I should know about GENVOYA?

GENVOYA may cause serious side effects:

- Build-up of an acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious medical emergency. Symptoms of lactic acidosis include feeling very weak or tired, unusual muscle pain, trouble breathing, stomach pain with nausea or vomiting, feeling cold (especially in your arms and legs), feeling dizzy or lightheaded, and/or a fast or irregular heartbeat.
- Serious liver problems. The liver may become large and fatty. Symptoms of liver problems include your skin or the white part of your eyes turning yellow (jaundice), dark “tea-colored” urine, light-colored bowel movements (stools), loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, and/or stomach pain.
- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or serious liver problems if you are female, very overweight, or have been taking GENVOYA for a long time. In some cases, lactic acidosis and serious liver problems have led to death. Call your healthcare provider right away if you have any symptoms of these conditions.
- Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. GENVOYA is not approved to treat HBV. If you have both HIV-1 and HBV and stop taking GENVOYA, your HBV may suddenly get worse. Do not stop taking GENVOYA without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to monitor your health.

Who should not take GENVOYA?

Do not take GENVOYA if you take:

- Certain prescription medicines for other conditions. It is important to ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist about medicines that should not be taken with GENVOYA. Do not start a new medicine without telling your healthcare provider.
- The herbal supplement St. John’s wort.
- Any other medicines to treat HIV-1 infection.

What are the other possible side effects of GENVOYA?

Serious side effects of GENVOYA may also include:

- Changes in body fat, which can happen in people taking HIV-1 medicines.
- Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any new symptoms after you start taking GENVOYA.
- Kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do blood and urine tests to check your kidneys. If you develop new or worse kidney problems, they may tell you to stop taking GENVOYA.
- Bone problems, such as bone pain, softening, or thinning, which may lead to fractures. Your healthcare provider may do tests to check your bones.

The most common side effect of GENVOYA is nausea. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effects that bother you or don’t go away.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking GENVOYA?

- All your health problems. Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you have or have had any kidney, bone, or liver problems, including hepatitis virus infection.
- All the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements. Other medicines may affect how GENVOYA works. Keep a list of all your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist. Ask your healthcare provider if it is safe to take GENVOYA with all of your other medicines.
- If you take antacids. Take antacids at least 2 hours before or after you take GENVOYA.
- If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if GENVOYA can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking GENVOYA.
- If you are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed. HIV-1 can be passed to the baby in breast milk.

“A Murder Over a Girl” by Ken Corbett

c.2016, Henry Holt

$27.00

277 pages

You could become whatever you want to be.

A ballerina, a cowboy, a fireman, a teacher. The sky was the limit – or so you were told. You could grow up and become the person of your dreams and that was okay. Except sometimes, as in the new book “A Murder Over a Girl” by Ken Corbett, dreaming can be deadly.

Larry King had had a rough start in life.

Born to an addict who “turned tricks” for drugs, Larry was neglected and abused and became a ward of the state as a small toddler; at two-and-a-half, the little “brown boy” was adopted by a white couple and life was better – until he reach adolescence. At age fifteen, he began talking about wearing make-up and women’s clothing, and becoming the girl he felt he was.

Many of his teachers “directed Larry to the closet”; the supportive ones were criticized. His adoptive parents tried to downplay his wishes; eventually, Larry left their house and moved into a group home, where he felt comfortable enough to start transitioning. He asked his teachers to call him "Leticia" and he began wearing cosmetics and feminine apparel to school.

To those who knew him, Brandon McInerney was "just a regular kid." Blond, blue-eyed, and athletic, he liked riding his bike and hanging out with friends – though there was a side of him that many knew but few acknowledged: McInerney had a quick temper and was fascinated with Nazism and skinhead culture. Larry King, therefore, was everything McInerney hated – especially when, as rumor had it, King asked McInerney to "be his Valentine."

Or, at least that's what other middle-schoolers claimed, although no one could "actually recollect" hearing it. And even if his words were just rumor, some kids still said that McInerney was bothered by King's "flamboyant" actions, possibly to the point of sputtering rage.

Friends advised McInerney to ignore King – but he couldn't. And so, on February 12, 2008, not three weeks after his fourteenth birthday, Brandon McInerney took a gun to school and shot Larry King twice in the head.

I wish I could say that there's a satisfying ending to this book, but there's not. And it's not author Ken Corbett's fault, but reading "A Murder Over a Girl" is somewhat like watching a horrible train wreck that just keeps going.

Surprisingly, that doesn't diminish the importance of this book.

Corbett, a clinical psychologist, offers readers a look at a crime from a non-lawmaker's point of view. This unique eye for what happened enhances the understanding of the whole picture, psychologically speaking and especially in the book's second section. There, Corbett writes mostly about the trial, witnesses, and other research, all of which seemed to allow him to dive more personally into this story – and so, because he presents it well, will you.

This is a timely book, a trial-watcher's delight, and a shocker all around. It has no happy ending, but it's impossible to look away from, nonetheless. Start "A Murder Over a Girl," and you'll become riveted.

Brief Summary of Patient Information about ODEFSEY

ODEFSEY (oh-DEF-see)

(emtricitabine, rilpivirine and tenofovir alafenamide) tablets

Important: Ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist about medicines that should not be taken with ODEFSEY.

There may be new information about ODEFSEY. This information is only a summary and does not take the place of talking with your healthcare provider about your medical condition or treatment.

What is the most important information I should know about ODEFSEY?

ODEFSEY can cause serious side effects, including:

- Build-up of lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis). Lactic acidosis may happen in some people who take ODEFSEY or similar medicines. Lactic acidosis is a serious medical emergency that can lead to death. Lactic acidosis can be hard to identify early, because the symptoms could seem like symptoms of other health problems. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms which could be signs of lactic acidosis:
  - feel very weak or tired
  - have unusual (not normal) muscle pain
  - have trouble breathing
  - have stomach pain with nausea or vomiting
  - feel cold, especially in your arms and legs
  - feel dizzy or lightheaded
  - have a fast or irregular heartbeat
- Severe liver problems. Severe liver problems may happen in people who take ODEFSEY. In some cases, these liver problems can lead to death. Your liver may become large and you may develop fat in your liver. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get any of the following symptoms of liver problems:
  - your skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow (jaundice)
  - dark “tea-colored” urine
  - light-colored bowel movements (stools)
  - loss of appetite
  - nausea
  - pain, aching, or tenderness on the right side of your stomach area
- You may be more likely to get lactic acidosis or severe liver problems if you are female, very overweight (obese), or have been taking ODEFSEY or a similar medicine for a long time.

- Worsening of Hepatitis B virus (HBV) infection.

ODEFSEY is not approved to treat HBV. If you have HBV and take ODEFSEY, your HBV may get worse (flare-up) if you stop taking ODEFSEY. A “flare-up” is when your HBV infection suddenly returns in a worse way than before.

- Do not run out of ODEFSEY. Refill your prescription or talk to your healthcare provider before your ODEFSEY is all gone.
- Do not stop taking ODEFSEY without first talking to your healthcare provider.
- If you stop taking ODEFSEY, your healthcare provider will need to check your health often and do blood tests regularly for several months to check your HBV infection. Tell your healthcare provider about any new or unusual symptoms you may have after you stop taking ODEFSEY.

What is ODEFSEY?

ODEFSEY is a prescription medicine that is used to treat HIV-1 in people 12 years of age and older:

- who have not received HIV-1 medicines in the past and have an amount of HIV-1 in their blood (“viral load”) that is no more than 100,000 copies/mL, or
- to replace their current HIV-1 medicines in people who have been on the same HIV-1 medicines for at least 6 months, have a viral load that is less than 50 copies/mL, and have never failed past HIV-1 treatment.

It is not known if ODEFSEY is safe and effective in children under 12 years of age or who weigh less than 77 lb (35 kg).

When used to treat HIV-1 infection, ODEFSEY may help:

- Reduce the amount of HIV-1 in your blood. This is called “viral load”.
- Increase the number of CD4+ (T) cells in your blood that help fight off other infections.

Reducing the amount of HIV-1 and increasing the CD4+ (T) cells in your blood may help improve your immune system. This may reduce your risk of death or getting infections that can happen when your immune system is weak (opportunistic infections).

ODEFSEY does not cure HIV-1 infection or AIDS.

You must keep taking HIV-1 medicines to control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses.

Ask your healthcare provider about how to prevent passing HIV-1 to others. Do not share or re-use needles, injection equipment, or personal items that can have blood or body fluids on them. Do not have sex without protection. Always practice safer sex by using a latex or polyurethane condom to lower the chance of sexual contact with semen, vaginal secretions, or blood.

Who should not take ODEFSEY?

Do not take ODEFSEY if you also take a medicine that contains:

- carbamazepine (Carbatrol®, Epitol®, Equetro®, Tegretol®, Tegretol-XR®, Teril®)
- dexamethasone (Ozurdex®, Maxidex®, Decadron®, Baycadron™)
- dexlansoprazole (Dexilant®)
- esomeprazole (Nexium®, Vimovo®)
- lansoprazole (Prevacid®)
- omeprazole (Prilosec®, Zegerid®)
- oxcarbazepine (Trileptal®)
- pantoprazole sodium (Protonix®)
- phenobarbital (Luminal®)
- phenytoin (Dilantin®, Dilantin-125®, Phenytek®)
- rabeprazole (Aciphex®)
- rifampin (Rifadin®, Rifamate®, Rifater®, Rimactane®)
- rifapentine (Priftin®)
- the herb St. John's wort or a product that contains St. John's wort

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking ODEFSEY?

Before taking ODEFSEY, tell your healthcare provider if you:

- have liver problems including hepatitis B or C virus infection
- have kidney and bone problems
- have had depression or suicidal thoughts
- have any other medical conditions
- are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if ODEFSEY can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking ODEFSEY.

Pregnancy registry: there is a pregnancy registry for women who take HIV-1 medicines during pregnancy. The purpose of this registry is to collect information about the health of you and your baby. Talk with your healthcare provider about how you can take part in this registry.

- are breastfeeding or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed if you take ODEFSEY.
  - You should not breastfeed if you have HIV-1 because of the risk of passing HIV-1 to your baby.
  - At least one of the medicines in ODEFSEY can pass to your baby in your breast milk. It is not known if the other medicines in ODEFSEY can pass into your breast milk.
  - Talk with your healthcare provider about the best way to feed your baby.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements.

Some medicines may interact with ODEFSEY. Keep a list of your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist when you get a new medicine.

- You can ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist for a list of medicines that interact with ODEFSEY.
- Do not start a new medicine without telling your healthcare provider. Your healthcare provider can tell you if it is safe to take ODEFSEY with other medicines.

How should I take ODEFSEY?

- Take ODEFSEY exactly as your healthcare provider tells you to take it. ODEFSEY is taken by itself (not with other HIV-1 medicines) to treat HIV-1 infection.
- Take ODEFSEY 1 time each day with a meal.
- Do not change your dose or stop taking ODEFSEY without first talking with your healthcare provider. Stay under a healthcare provider's care when taking ODEFSEY.
- Do not miss a dose of ODEFSEY.
- If you take too much ODEFSEY, call your healthcare provider or go to the nearest hospital emergency room right away.
- When your ODEFSEY supply starts to run low, get more from your healthcare provider or pharmacy. This is very important because the amount of virus in your blood may increase if the medicine is stopped for even a short time. The virus may develop resistance to ODEFSEY and become harder to treat.

What are the possible side effects of ODEFSEY?

ODEFSEY may cause serious side effects, including:

- See "What is the most important information I should know about ODEFSEY?"
- Severe skin rash and allergic reactions. Skin rash is a common side effect of ODEFSEY. Rash can be serious. Call your healthcare provider right away if you get a rash. In some cases, rash and allergic reaction may need to be treated in a hospital. If you get a rash with any of the following symptoms, stop taking ODEFSEY and call your healthcare provider right away: fever; skin blisters; mouth sores; redness or swelling of the eyes (conjunctivitis); swelling of the face, lips, mouth or throat; trouble breathing or swallowing; pain on the right side of the stomach (abdominal) area; dark "tea-colored" urine.

What are the possible side effects of ODEFSEY? (continued)

ODEFSEY may cause serious side effects, including:

- Depression or mood changes. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any of the following symptoms: feel sad or hopeless; feel anxious or restless; have thoughts of hurting yourself (suicide) or have tried to hurt yourself.
- Change in liver enzymes. People with a history of hepatitis B or C virus infection or who have certain liver enzyme changes may have an increased risk of developing new or worsening liver problems during treatment with ODEFSEY. Liver problems can also happen during treatment with ODEFSEY in people without a history of liver disease. Your healthcare provider may need to do tests to check your liver enzymes before and during treatment with ODEFSEY.
- Changes in body fat can happen in people who take HIV-1 medicine. These changes may include increased amount of fat in the upper back and neck ("buffalo hump"), breast, and around the middle of your body (trunk). Loss of fat from the legs, arms and face may also happen. The exact cause and long-term health effects of these conditions are not known.
- Changes in your immune system (Immune Reconstitution Syndrome) can happen when you start taking HIV-1 medicines. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections that have been hidden in your body for a long time. # Never Swim With Gay People

by: Brad Loekle

I'm currently writing this from the library of the Oceania Marina, an ultra-luxury cruise ship that's parked in Rangiroa, somewhere in French Polynesia. The South Pacific is, quite possibly, the most beautiful place on earth. And I've been to a lot of Earth at this point so I have a little perspective on the matter. It's a surreal treat to be able to come to this part of the world as a comedian. I may not be big enough yet to film my own comedy special on Broadway, but most comics I know don't get to play Papatēe, Tahiti! And to be able to do so on an all-gay cruise is particularly amazing and, in its own way, surreal. You learn a lot about people, different kinds of people, by traveling the world the way I do. For instance, I've only been in French Polynesia for two days and I've already learned that their language is mostly vowels. Seriously. Good luck finding a Polynesian word that has less than 6 vowels. And often the same vowel in repetition multiple times. They would never be able to have a Polynesian Wheel of Fortune. Because it would go something like this:

"Pat, I'd like to by an "E"."

"Okay, well there are 47 "E's"...."

"Great, Pat, I'd like to solve the puzzle..."

The other thing you quickly learn, traveling the way I do, is that you never want to swim with gay people. Specifically, you never want to swim with gay people in the ocean. It's only when you swim with gay people in the ocean that you realize that unique, hysterical, and ridiculous combination of 16-year-old American schoolgirl that most gay men are. Or at least that most gay man secretly has inside of himself. That same 16-year-old girl that secretly vogues in the bathroom mirror when they're getting ready for a job interview. That same 16-year-old girl that still cries when she watched the funeral scene in Steel Magnolias.

Yesterday, in Mo'orea (see what I mean about vowels?), I spend the day at the beach and in the water with a gaggle of gays. I don't know if that's the proper scientific term for a grouping of homosexuals in the wild. But it seems right. Either gaggle or gobble. Maybe a gobble of gays? Anyway, I digress. Once in the water, I cannot tell you the fuckery of words and ideas that came out of people's mouths as we snorkeled along the magnificent coral reef that was teeming with life. Things like:

"Oh my god! It's almost like I'm inside the fish tank at my Dentist's office!"

"Wow, it looks like my screensaver at work!"

"Hey everyone, come look at this snake fish!"

To say that Darwin would be impressed by the gay community's ability to identify: snake-fish, sunglass fish, clear-demon-looking fish, and Nemo is an understatement. And every high school earth science teacher should be ashamed of their students, at least these students. I feel like I should also say that if, as a gay man, you're going to take the time to go to the gym 6 days a week, use human growth hormone, and cover yourself in prison tattoos in order to maintain a certain butch façade; then maybe also try to hold back on shrieking like a 14 year old girl... THROUGH YOUR SNORKEL... at a decibel that let's the whole beach know that a stingray just brushed by your pinkie toe. Also, if you're going to be the asshole that catches a fish in your bare hands to prove how good of a hunter/gather you are... and then waves it in the air like you're flag dancing at White Party... don't be shocked when tropical birds dive bomb the shit out of you. Turning you into a flamboyantly aquatic version of Tippi Hedren.

I think the overall moral of the story is... though swimming with gays is a hilariously good time; it's still not advisable Think of it like a sort of reverse Blackfish. Though Shamu is an entertaining, magnificent creature to watch in the waters of a tank, she should really be left in her natural environment of the sea. And though gays might be entertaining, magnificent creatures when put in the sea... it's best to leave us in our natural environment. Like gay bars, gyms, and wherever the hottest new brunch place is.

Brad Loekle was a semi-finalist on NBC's "Last Comic Standing". He was just featured in Bianca Del Rio's Comedy Cabaret, which was filmed live at Aspen Gay Ski Week for Logo. He can be seen every week on TruTV's "World's Dumbest", has written for Joan Rivers on E! "Fashion Police" & tours extensively on Atlantis Events & RSVP cruises.

ZACHARY MOSES : MAN ABOUT TOWN

I've been watching a lot of Netflix lately. I mean A LOT. Mostly the show Dare Devil. It's about a crime fighting vigilante who was blinded when he was nine years old. The blinding incident gave him radioactive super powers wherein all his remaining senses are amped to mega overdrive. The guy can hear a cat's heartbeat from six blocks away!

The show is super awesome...but it is also extremely violent. The information he gathers with his new super senses makes the world seem on fire. That sounds super rad. It totally makes sense that Dare Devil is always angry and beating the living shit out of bad guys.

I've heard that people who lose their vision experience heightened sensitivity in their remaining senses afterward. To test this, I've been walking around my house and neighborhood with my eyes shut. Oh god...it is not easy. I quickly became disoriented. Every time that I felt freaked out, almost falling off the curb, I would instinctively open my eyes. It'd be challenging to be blind. Uber tough.

Ever eaten a sour patch kid with your eyes closed? It is fantastic, super sour, and wow! Pretty much anything with a strong flavor is more amazing with when your eyes are shut. Strawberries, passionfruit, whipped cream, kissing, yada yada, etc. Showers are also improved with the eyes closed!

I noticed how the water trickles through my hair. I could feel all the spots where it poured off me in a stream. I counted out loud as I felt the warm water flowing over my nose, splashing noisily on its way to the drain. I'd never have noticed with open eyes the way my voice echoes through the bathroom.

Outside, I immediately smelled the trash pile at the eastern end of Smathers Beach. Oh boy ...that smell is a whole other animal with the eyes closed. *Shudder* I do not want odiferous super power.

Next I sat on a bench at the newly renovated Bahama Village Park to try out my super hearing. I listened to two ladies argue over which one was the most drunk. Using my now super hero-like sense of hearing, I could tell that Sandra was indeed worse off. During mid-sentence she burped wetly and I heard her puke hit the pavement.

I grew confident as my powers increased and I tried riding my bike with my eyes closed. I immediately crashed into a tree, OUCH, a red peeling one. We call them tourist trees, because they're red and peeling. HAHAHA!

This illuminating experience has been hilarious and fun. It's reminded me of when I was a child curious about the world. Before TV and Netflix took over my free-time. I'm sorry Dare Devil but I'm putting you on hold. I've boxed up my TV and there it will remain until I've finished having pure sensory fun without watching where I'm going!

Ask Nana

E-mail your questions to nana@keywestgayrag.com

Dear Nana,

The guy I'm seeing right now is really into leather and the leather community. I've never tried any of that and I don't know if I want to go down that road. But I also don't want to not try out the things he's passionate about. Do you think I should give it a go?

Talk about taking fear of commitment to a new level! It's not marriage and joint property, sweetie... it's a pair of chaps and smack on the ass! Listen, all this leather and S&M stuff started long after my sexual prime. At this point, you could write a whole other kind of "Fifty Shades of Gray" just about the color spectrum of my vagina at this age! Now, if you haven't projectile vomited all over the magazine at this point and can still read my response, let me say this: you don't regret the things you tried when you're my age... you regret the things you didn't try. That goes for sushi and for sex. So give it a go and keep an open mind and a relaxed anus. It won't mean the end of the relationship if you end up not liking some, or even all, of it. But it will say a lot about you that you've given it a try because it's something he likes and you want to share that with him. If he isn't smart enough to see how valuable that trait is in a partner, then he's the one who should be tied up and beaten!

Dear Nana,

I've been seeing a guy who is HUGE. That's not bragging, though I do like his dick a lot and I get insanely turned on every time I see it. The trouble is, sometimes when he fucks me, when I'm cleaning up afterwards there's blood. Not a lot but not just a spot. It never is there for more than 1-2 wipes of a baby wipe but it's definitely there. Has he broken me? Do I need to see a doctor? Do I need to stop having sex with him? Please don't say yes to that last one!

First of all, congrats! Who doesn't dream of the perfect penis; either having it in you or having on you as your very own? Let's go over a few possibilities. First of all, if you have a hairy ass, especially in the inner part of the cheeks, there is always the chance that during your sex he's tearing out a few hairs here or there. If that's the case, there's really no big worry. And you can either consider getting your asshole waxed, or just consider upping your applications of a silicone-based lubricant during sex. However, there is also the chance that you have an anal fissure. Which is basically just a little tear or stretch of some part of your anus. It could be near the outside of your O-ring or could be on the inside on the rectum side. These tears usually heal on their own, unless it's a particularly bad tear. Yours, if it is a fissure, doesn't sound like a particularly bad one. A sitz bath or nice hot baths with some coconut oil in the water both help to promote fast healing. You'll also want to consider doing some work to keep your anus more relaxed and "used" to his size. So, for instance, if you're not going to have sex every day or ever other day, you might want to invest in a dildo that's around his size and commit to using it once a day to keep your body in perfect perverted condition. I know, I know... the things we do for love! There is also the off chance that anal bleeding or bloody stool can be related to a more serious medical condition. Particularly if you're near or over 40. So it's not the worst idea to swing through your doctor's office just so they can take a look and make sure it's nothing like that. But if it is, just know that at least if you need some sort of surgery, you have a giant dicked lover waiting for you in recovery!

*Do you have problems? Of course you do!!
Why not let Nana help you?! Send your questions to:

Aquarius

Jan 20 – Feb 18

Must every comment you post on Facebook be a meme? Are you capable of any independent thought at all?

Pisces

Feb 19 – Mar 20

I would compare thee to a rose. Well, just the thorns you prick!

Aries

Mar 21 – Apr 19

Things look a little turbulent this month for you. I suggest you confer with a fortune teller. Well, in your case, a "lack of fortune" teller.

Taurus

Apr 20 – May 20

You are so needy. I'll bet this was the first thing you looked at in this magazine. Is your life that sad?

Gemini

May 21 – Jun 20

Cologne is very much like Fireball. A little can assist you in getting lucky. A lot just makes you obnoxious. Take the hint!

Cancer

Jun 21 – Jul 22

So here we are again dear Cancer, summer is almost here and you still haven't shed that winter weight.... From 2015, 2014, 2013, hell, since you were born.....

Leo

Jul 23 – Aug 22

If you gain any more weight, you'll need to be weighed at a truck stop!

Virgo

Aug 23 – Sep 22

Oh dear Virgo, you are the sign of the virgin. How you were born under this sign is a miracle considering your nickname is pass around Patty!

Libra

Sep 23 – Oct 22

As you contemplate your goals in life, you may want to look a little further ahead than what cocktail to order.

Scorpio

Oct 23 – Nov 21

Please stop posting pictures on Facebook. Nothing says "I'm alone" quite as well as pictures of cuddling with cats and dinner for one.

Sagittarius

Nov 22 – Dec 21

You have had every venereal disease known to man, which is pretty impressive considering how unattractive you are.

Capricorn

Dec 22 – Jan 19

Seriously, how lazy are you? I'll bet someone else read this to you. You're so lazy you couldn't even pick up this magazine to read it yourself?
