LEZ GO OUT

Yesterday I walked Duval St. Shops are reopening and the city is beginning to thump to a familiar rhythm again. During this time of safer at home the Key West Lesbians group and Hotdog Church (both local lesbian groups to which I belong) have been hosting our regular Sunday socials via Zoom. Our founder just turned 80 (Happy Birthday, June!) so that may give you an idea of the longevity and history of our group. Someone can correct me if I'm wrong but I believe it's the longest running lesbian event on the island. Operating via Zoom has kept us together when some of our group would have been isolated and very much alone if we had not. I am sure many of you understand this. In fact, often after our Zoom calls I felt as though I had gone out. The connections, the stories, the updates, birthdays, cocktails, snacks - all of that still happened and in many cases were shared by a larger audience than we would have had in person. Thank goodness for technology.

I don't know about you but I've potted enough plants, cooked enough new recipes and bought enough stuff off of amazon in the last two months to keep the garden growing, the freezer full and the packages coming until Christmas. Last weekend I couldn't take it any longer and a few close friends, who have all been isolating, and I all booked a local deal with Lazy Dog and took a boat of 6 out into the Muds. This area is often quite shallow and filled with beautiful mangroves. There is a hidden sandbar and a small but deep channel running alongside of it. On our way there we were all astounded by how clear the water is. A couple of women in our group have lived here for a very long time and one remarked that it hasn't been this clear in decades. If you haven't gone out with Lazy Dog yet, we highly recommend it. The sandbar was pristine and their local deal makes it crazy affordable. Get out there!

LGBT Book Reviews by Terri Schlichenmeyer

"CONFESSIONS OF A GAY PRIEST" BY TOM RASTRELLI

c.2020, University of Iowa Press | $19.95 | 328 pages

You spent days examining your life.

Sins: that's what you were looking for. How had you displeased God? How many lies, covets, dishonors? What have you done since – oh, when was your last confession, anyhow? They say the sacrament is good for your soul, and in "Confessions of a Gay Priest" by Tom Rastrelli, there's a lot to tell.

Though he'd always known that he liked boys, little Tommy Rastrelli pretended the opposite when he was in gradeschool because marriage was what good Catholics did. His family was devout and Rastrelli never questioned God's love. Not even after, he says, he was repeatedly molested by a doctor in his Iowa hometown.

For several reasons, he never told his parents about the abuse, enduring it for years until he'd convinced them that he was too old for a pediatrician. That God hadn't saved him from a predator made Rastrelli slowly lose his faith and his self-respect. He stopped attending Mass and began questioning the Church's teachings.

But then God called a shocked Tom Rastrelli to the priesthood.

It happened while he was at college, and the whole idea quickly consumed him. Gone was the plan to major in theatre; instead, Rastrelli began to explore a world steeped in mystery and ritual, but overlaid with fear. Always believing that testimony against the doctor could save others from the same abuse, Rastrelli took legal action, knowing that scandal could ruin his chance to attend seminary.

There were many things undiscussable, in fact, and the court case was only half of it. As he progressed in his journey to ordination, the secrets included priestly kisses, caresses, and soft lies that a "backrub" was just a backrub. At nearly every gathering, Rastrelli was approached for sex or touched inappropriately, led to believe that celibacy had wiggle-room, plied with alcohol or favors, and left to deal with it alone.

He fell in misguided love.

And then he fell into a deep depression, with only one real way out...

"The Confessions of a Gay Priest" is a hard, hard book to read – it'll make you squirm, it'll make your eyebrows raise, you'll want to toss it on the street and let semis run it over and yet, it's stay-up-all-night compelling.

Beginning with his ordination (so you know-don't-know the end of the story), author Tom Rastrelli tells a tale that will further shock Catholics already reeling from church-related scandals. This book, however, is not written in the same manner as is a diocesan document: Rastrelli is sometimes extremely graphic, both in the bedroom and in his various emotional states. He doesn't pull back the curtains on his experiences, he rips them down and burns them. He used pseudonyms, but tells details before softening his harshness with beautiful language, strong faith, and poetic distractions that play with a reader's sympathy.

You can't beat a book like that, though its graphic nature needs to again be underscored. For a reader who can endure a panoply of squirms, "Confessions of a Gay Priest" is worth deep examination.

MY BIG GAY LIFE

GRAHAM CRACKER

Of all the crazy shit that's happened this year (and it has been a doozy) I never thought "rogue band of male sex workers might bring down Lindsey Graham" would be one of the headlines. COVID-19? been there, done that, got the H1N1 T-shirts. The end of democracy? I've been to Rome and Athens enough times to know my heart will go on, Celine. Murder Hornets? Okay, that was a bit on the nose. I mean, it's basically Sharknado but without any of the original cast of Beverly Hills 90210. But this "Lady G" story, well now things are getting juicy for summer. Who knows what more might have come out by the time you're reading this!

What I can tell you is that I personally know... let's just say more than three... male escorts who have been with "Lady G" (here's where I'm supposed to say allegedly for legal reasons, so...) "allegedly". In fairness, I was never in the room when any of these tricks happened. But then again, I've never been in the room with any of my escort friends while they're working but I still know they go to work. I mean, I haven't seen a baby pigeon or a compassionate conservative... but I know they exist. Right?

Now we all know that the Medium.com story that went viral of Lindsay Graham and his "ladybugs" was a satire piece. But we certainly don't know what's going to come out of the crypt about this dirty old queen. And let's face it... you can't spend your whole life in the closet, working passionately against LGBTQ+ rights, people of color, the poor, and pretty much every other group and not be a sick bitch between the sheets. If there are even sheets involved. He could easily be one of those "glass coffee table" kind of kinky queens. Let's be honest, you hear that voice and see that face you already want to piss on it. So, if he's also into that, it's really a "two birds, one stone" sort of deal.

All I can say that is if escorts wanted to out famous people just for the sake of it, they'd pick a better public figure than Lindsay. This is motivated purely by the hate he's sown in the world and in our government. I mean, I even know a porn star who was almost Joe Exotic's FOURTH in his polyamorous, drug fueled, tiger den. Trust me, hookers have stories so they make GREAT friends and dinner party guests! I highly recommend their company both on and off the clock.

And if these hookers need our support, I will personally put together the GoFundMe for their legal fees. I just want this Graham Cracker crumbled and I want to see him have to do a press conference where he admits that really is him in the rubber suit in the photo that gets leaked sometime after you read this... allegedly.

I know it's petty. I don't care. It's been four years of morbidly obese Nazis and pussy grabbers and I'm ready for lightning to strike in our favor again. And I hope that brush fire that is Graham's career in cinders glows bright enough to light the path to a new world for all of us. A world where sex work is legalized and all our public officials can fuck whoever they want... so long as they stop fucking us, the voters, without any lube at all.

Local Bartender Interviews

By Jameson Rabbitt

PAUL WALLACE PUTS THE "P" IN PARTY

From South America to Europe, Paul Wallace is the international bartender Key West didn't know it needed!

Single and ready to mingle boys! with a South-American flair and on the hunt for twinks, you can find Wallace working the bar at Island House, where he is ready to bring the Caribbean flavor to your favorite libations -served frozen pool-side.

Born in the South Miami Hospital, Paul Wallace has called Key West home for four years. Raised in Buenos Aires, he taught Fine Art for a few years before realizing that his true calling was calling from behind the bar. Wallace started his bartending journey getting his hands wet working the London scene where he lived for seven years. Mastering the art of bartending in the busy Euro-nightlife, Wallace was offered a position in a security firm and quit his bartending career until fate lead him back home, to sunny Florida.

As for many Key West transplants, Paul felt a magical calling to the island when a friend asked him to move to Paradise City USA and has been part of the One Human Family ever since.

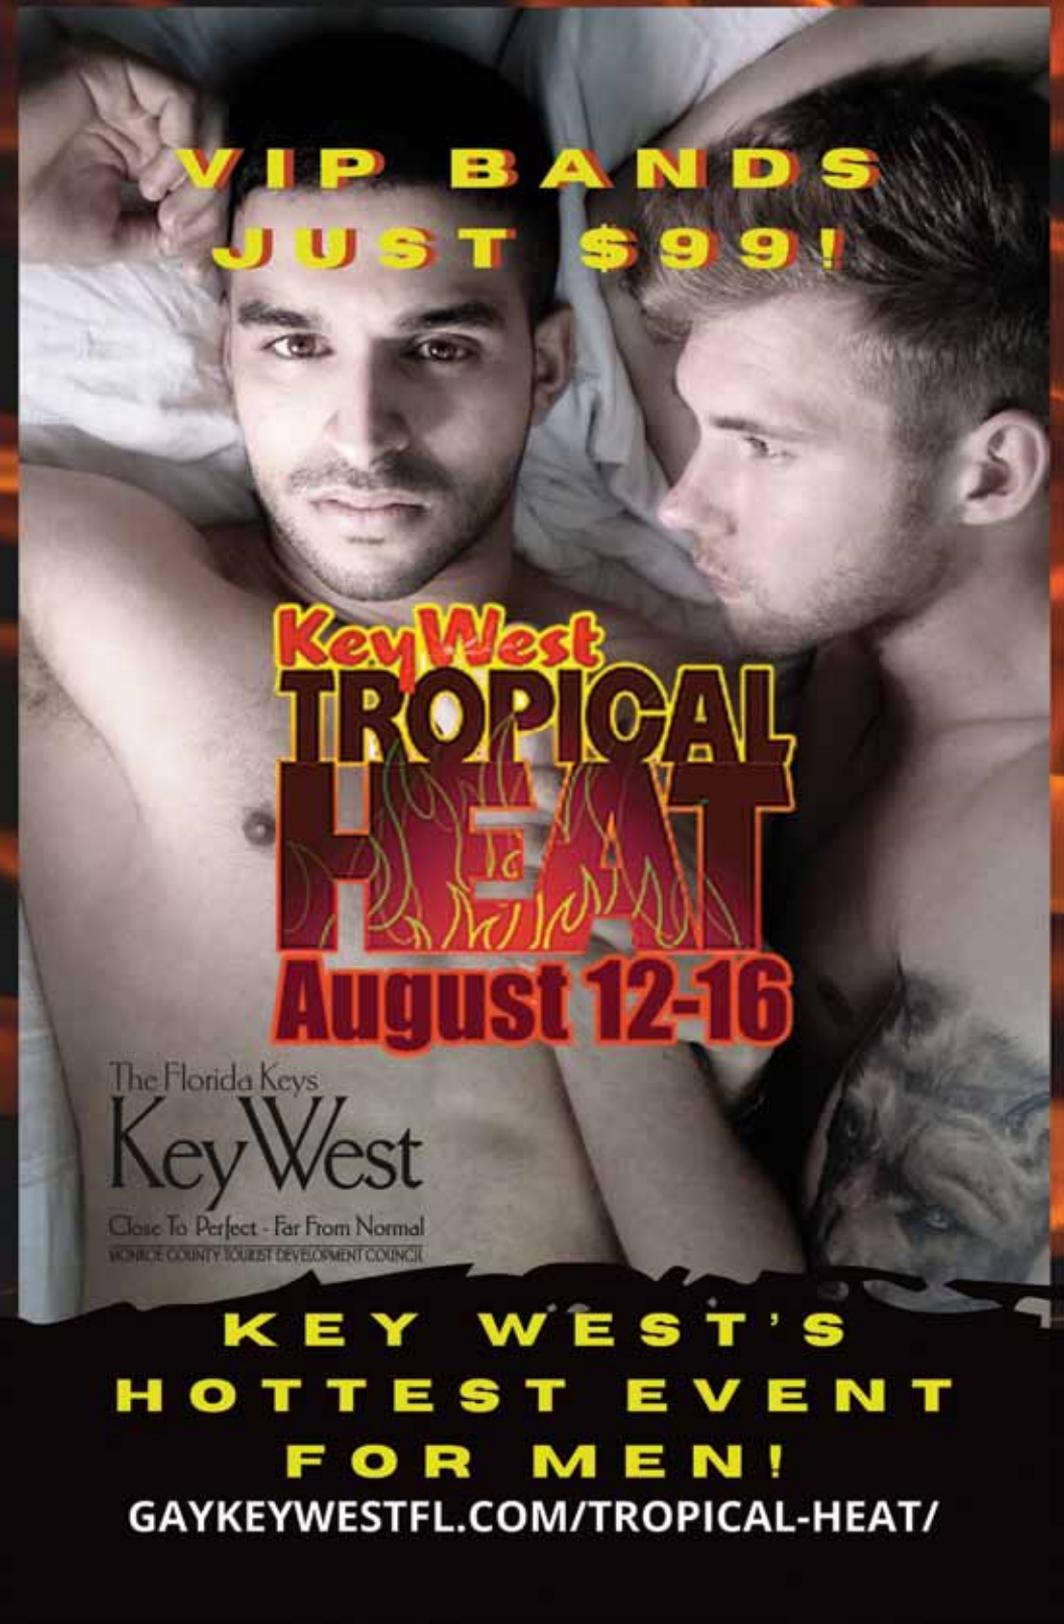

Wallace remembers vividly being referred to his current job working for Island House while he was getting a haircut. Paul fell in love with the concept of having an all-male resort with the amenities of high-end hospitality with an Island twist, and has been working there ever since Island House has been coined the World's best gay resort and Wallace makes sure his talents match the reputation that Island House has made for itself. From serving a medium-rare, steak dinner to a kink Warewolf-themed wedding party (electric-shock collars included), to blending his signature frozen MudSlides, Paul puts the P in PARTY!

Even though he does not teach art anymore, Paul still enjoys his love for painting in acrylic paint and kayaking his own "backyard". His favorite drink is Moscow Mules and his favorite color is blue, his perfect date night would be a romantic kayak trip followed by a sexy shower to cool off, with a happy ending sunset in Mallory Square.

Even though Covid-19 has been such a hectic time for some Americans, Wallace has been able to find the silver lining of not working while obeying stay-at-home orders, Paul started a few home projects including planting his own garden to keep him busy.

Now back in full swing at Island House Paul is back working the beautiful pool side café. he is ready to greet visitors and locals with a huge smile and a cold drink at hand while keeping his guests safe by masking up and making sure the café is sanitized while guests social distance under the tropical Key West Sun.

A photograph of two shirtless men lying in bed. The man on the left is looking directly at the camera, while the man on the right is looking towards him. They are both looking relaxed and intimate.

 - Pass the lock through the frame and the front tire.
 - Be careful not to lock your bike to an adjoining bike by accident.
 - If you lock your bike to private property, it may be impounded.
- When approaching occupied cars, be ready to react if the door opens.

Dear Nana,

I've put on some weight during the Covid-19 times. Do you have any time-tested diet tips for how to shed some of this pandemic weight before summer is over? Help!

Oh, my sweet, potato-shaped little dumpling! Don't you think that if I had any age-old secrets for weight loss, I would have already patented them years ago and would be living on a private island having gorgeous, Polynesian men oil me up like a sexy, century old tortoise?! Sadly, I haven't found anything in all my years that takes it off quick. It's easy to put on and a bastard to take off. Sure, you can limit your calorie intake, break a good sweat every day, and cut back on the booze for a bit. But that's still gonna take months. So, I say 2020 has been hard enough already. Give yourself the summer off from ab-anxiety! There's a reason the phrase is "fat and happy" and the other one is "skinny bitch". Give yourself a summer of fun... sized snickers and let your freak flag flab out! And if that truly doesn't work for you, see if you can order some tape-worm eggs off the dark web.

Dear Nana,

My Mom and Dad watch Fox News 24/7. They now believe every crazy conspiracy theory out there. It's insane. I try to talk sense into them but they won't listen, My Dad even said I was "sheeple" the other day. Where did he even learn that stupid term?! Help! What do I do?!?!

Oh, my little Beaux Peep, I'm so sorry that they've gone around the Fox News bend. In my day, you could trust the news. Nowadays you can't even trust your parents to not believe that Hillary Clinton is selling kids out of the basement of a Pizza Hut. Crazy times breed crazy people. I say don't drive yourself crazy trying to teach old dogs basic logic. Time to have them declared mentally insane, have them put in a lovely, full service, high security "retirement community" and then sell their house and use the money to take a trip to Bora Bora. You've earned it.

DO YOU HAVE PROBLEMS? OF COURSE YOU DO! WHY NOT LET NANA HELP YOU?!

WHORE--SCOPES

AQUARIUS JAN 20 - FEB 18

I'd slap you but that would be animal abuse.

PISCES FEB 19 - MAR 20

You're like the crust on the loaf of bread. Everyone touches you but nobody wants you.

ARIES MAR 21 - APR 19

Is your ass aware that your head has moved in?

TAURUS APR 20 - MAY 20

I don't think you're stupid. You just have bad luck when thinking

GEMINI MAY 21 - JUN 20

You're about as sharp as a bowling ball.

CANCER JUN 21 - JUL 22

You're old enough to remember when emojis were called "hieroglyphics."

LEO JUL 23 - AUG 22

You sound reasonable. It must be time to up my medication!

VIRGO AUG 23 - SEP 22

You are a terrible cook. The smoke alarm is not a timer.

LIBRA SEP 23 - OCT 22

Hey, you have something on your chin... no, the 3rd one down.

SCORPIO OCT 23 - NOV 21

I would ask you how old you are but I know you can't count that high.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 - DEC 21

You're so old, when you were a kid rainbows were black and white.

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

I love what you've done with your hair. How do you get it to come out of the nostrils like that?
