STAY SAFE RIDE SMART

A bicycle is a great way to get around, but stay safe by following the rules of the road.

- A bicycle is like any other vehicle, so you must follow the rules of the road.
  - Bicycles must follow all traffic controls such as signs and signals.
  - Bicycles cannot travel the wrong way down a one way street.
  - Bicycles must be ridden on the right hand side of a two way street.
  - You must signal all turns with hand signals.
  - Headsets cannot be worn while cycling.
  - Riding a bike while under the influence can get you a DUI in Florida.
- Lights are required between sunset and sunrise
  - A white light is required in front and a red light in the rear.
- Riding on the sidewalk or crosswalk is permitted but with these provisions
  - Pedestrians have the right of way. Yield to pedestrians.
  - When passing pedestrians, you must signal your intent before doing so.
- Anyone under the age of 16 must wear a helmet.

Here are a few additional tips that you may find helpful.

- Lock up your bike at all times. If not, you'll probably be walking home.
  - Pass the lock through the frame and the front tire.
  - Be careful not to lock your bike to an adjoining bike by accident.
  - If you lock your bike to private property, it may be impounded.
- When approaching occupied cars, be ready to react if the door opens.

Enjoy your time seeing the best of Key West!

YOU MATTER AND SO DOES YOUR HEALTH

That's why starting and staying on HIV-1 treatment is so important.

WHAT IS DESCOVY?

DESCOVY is a prescription medicine that is used together with other HIV-1 medicines to treat HIV-1 in people 12 years and older. DESCOVY is not for use to help reduce the risk of getting HIV-1 infection. DESCOVY combines 2 medicines into 1 pill taken once a day. Because DESCOVY by itself is not a complete treatment for HIV-1, it must be used together with other HIV-1 medicines.

DESCOVY does not cure HIV-1 infection or AIDS.

To control HIV-1 infection and decrease HIV-related illnesses, you must keep taking DESCOVY. Ask your healthcare provider if you have questions about how to reduce the risk of passing HIV-1 to others. Always practice safer sex and use condoms to lower the chance of sexual contact with body fluids. Never reuse or share needles or other items that have body fluids on them.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION

What is the most important information I should know about DESCOVY?

DESCOVY may cause serious side effects:

- Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. DESCOVY is not approved to treat HBV. If you have both HIV-1 and HBV and stop taking DESCOVY, your HBV may suddenly get worse. Do not stop taking DESCOVY without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to monitor your health.

What are the other possible side effects of DESCOVY?

Serious side effects of DESCOVY may also include:

- Changes in your immune system. Your immune system may get stronger and begin to fight infections. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any new symptoms after you start taking DESCOVY.

- Kidney problems, including kidney failure. Your healthcare provider should do blood and urine tests to check your kidneys. Your healthcare provider may tell you to stop taking DESCOVY if you develop new or worse kidney problems.
- Too much lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious but rare medical emergency that can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: weakness or being more tired than usual, unusual muscle pain, being short of breath or fast breathing, stomach pain with nausea and vomiting, cold or blue hands and feet, feel dizzy or lightheaded, or a fast or abnormal heartbeat.
- Severe liver problems, which in rare cases can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow, dark "tea-colored" urine, light-colored stools, loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, or stomach-area pain.
- Bone problems, such as bone pain, softening, or thinning, which may lead to fractures. Your healthcare provider may do tests to check your bones.

The most common side effect of DESCOVY is nausea. Tell your healthcare provider if you have any side effects that bother you or don't go away.

What should I tell my healthcare provider before taking DESCOVY?

- All your health problems. Be sure to tell your healthcare provider if you have or have had any kidney, bone, or liver problems, including hepatitis virus infection.

Ask your healthcare provider if an HIV-1 treatment that contains DESCOVY® is right for you.

- All the medicines you take, including prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements. Other medicines may affect how DESCOVY works. Keep a list of all your medicines and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist. Ask your healthcare provider if it is safe to take DESCOVY with all of your other medicines.
- If you are pregnant or plan to become pregnant. It is not known if DESCOVY can harm your unborn baby. Tell your healthcare provider if you become pregnant while taking DESCOVY.
- If you are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed. HIV-1 can be passed to the baby in breast milk.

You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

Please see Important Facts about DESCOVY, including important warnings, on the following page.

IMPORTANT FACTS

This is only a brief summary of important information about DESCOVY® and does not replace talking to your healthcare provider about your condition and your treatment.

MOST IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT DESCOVY

DESCOVY may cause serious side effects, including:

- Worsening of hepatitis B (HBV) infection. DESCOVY is not approved to treat HBV. If you have both HIV-1 and HBV, your HBV may suddenly get worse if you stop taking DESCOVY. Do not stop taking DESCOVY without first talking to your healthcare provider, as they will need to check your health regularly for several months.

ABOUT DESCOVY

- DESCOVY is a prescription medicine that is used together with other HIV-1 medicines to treat HIV-1 in people 12 years of age and older. DESCOVY is not for use to help reduce the risk of getting HIV-1 infection.
- DESCOVY does not cure HIV-1 or AIDS. Ask your healthcare provider about how to prevent passing HIV-1 to others.

BEFORE TAKING DESCOVY

Tell your healthcare provider if you:

- Have or had any kidney, bone, or liver problems, including hepatitis infection.
- Have any other medical condition.
- Are pregnant or plan to become pregnant.
- Are breastfeeding (nursing) or plan to breastfeed. Do not breastfeed if you have HIV-1 because of the risk of passing HIV-1 to your baby.

Tell your healthcare provider about all the medicines you take:

- Keep a list that includes all prescription and over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements, and show it to your healthcare provider and pharmacist.
- Ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist about medicines that should not be taken with DESCOVY.

HOW TO TAKE DESCOVY

- DESCOVY is a one pill, once a day HIV-1 medicine that is taken with other HIV-1 medicines.
- Take DESCOVY with or without food.

POSSIBLE SIDE EFFECTS OF DESCOVY

DESCOVY can cause serious side effects, including:

- Those in the “Most Important Information About DESCOVY” section.
- Changes in your immune system.
- New or worse kidney problems, including kidney failure.
- Too much lactic acid in your blood (lactic acidosis), which is a serious but rare medical emergency that can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: weakness or being more tired than usual, unusual muscle pain, being short of breath or fast breathing, stomach pain with nausea and vomiting, cold or blue hands and feet, feel dizzy or lightheaded, or a fast or abnormal heartbeat.
- Severe liver problems, which in rare cases can lead to death. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you get these symptoms: skin or the white part of your eyes turns yellow, dark “tea-colored” urine, light-colored stools, loss of appetite for several days or longer, nausea, or stomach-area pain.
- Bone problems.

The most common side effect of DESCOVY is nausea.

These are not all the possible side effects of DESCOVY. Tell your healthcare provider right away if you have any new symptoms while taking DESCOVY.

Your healthcare provider will need to do tests to monitor your health before and during treatment with DESCOVY.

“MAKING MIDCENTURY MODERN” BY CHRISTOPHER KENNEDY, FOREWORD BY BARCLAY BUTERA

c.2017, Gibbs Smith | $35.00 | 198 pages

You'll never forget the feeling of key in hand.

Imagine – you. A homeowner, finally, after saving, planning, and a ceiling-high pile of paperwork. Starting today, you can go home (home!), shut the door, and know that it's all yours. So how do you reflect your style in this home you love? Begin with “Making Midcentury Modern” by Christopher Kennedy.

When he was a young lad, Kennedy's parents taught him the proper ways to a well-mannered life: his mother made him write thank-you notes, and she taught him how to “make a good first impression,” while his father advised him to “live each day to the fullest.” Those lessons were learned in “simpler, more gracious times.”

Kennedy insists it's not nostalgia that makes him love interior design from that period. Instead, he just likes the trend, and he doesn't see it “slowing down any time soon.” In this book, he shows how you can include Midcentury Modern into your home, even if it was built last month.

You can start in the entrance.

Those first impressions matter when it comes to a home, says Kennedy. Paint your front door in a Midcentury Modern color to welcome guests warmly.

On the topic of colors, Midcentury Modern isn't shy. Orange is the "caffeine of the color wheel," and it really pops. Think pink (Mamie Eisenhower's favorite color), turquoise, white, red, or any shade of blue. Don't just color walls, though; be bold with furniture, rugs, and accessories. Pillows in out-there colors are inexpensive ways to dip your toe into the design.

Know the "secret to a beautiful and easy-to-make bed" – and for guest rooms, consider twin beds. Go ahead and mix metals, bring childhood treasures out for display, and recall Mom's kitchen or bathroom for ideas. Take your indoors, outdoors, weather permitting. Pare down; Midcentury Modern isn't cluttered (so on that note, hide your TV). And finally, have fun.

"Above all," Kennedy says, "never take your home... too seriously."

Sometimes, it's easy to feel indecision or paralysis, when it comes to décor. What if you make a mistake?

What if you have "Making Midcentury Modern"?

With 100 easy-to-use (and surprisingly budget-friendly) tips, author Christopher Kennedy gives readers the inspirational boost they need to make a home dazzle. You'll see how simple color will transform a house's entire look, and where cherished possessions can become unusual displays. Kennedy fully admits that many of his favorite pieces were discovered online or at thrift stores, an idea that's somehow very delicious. And pillows? Pile 'em on!

The one criticism I have with this book isn't with the information – it's with getting that information: the font color against color can be very difficult to read. White print on a yellow background, for example, is nearly hidden.

It's a design flaw in a design book. Go figure.

That's not insurmountable, though: there are photos enough to make this coffee-table book a can't-miss full of fun. If you need your house to feel groovier no matter when it was constructed, "Making Midcentury Modern" may be key.

IN DEFENSE OF YOUTH

Remember when we were kids and we said we'd be different than our parents when we grew up? We were fun, modern homosexuals. We listened to Madonna and took ecstasy and fucked in public restrooms. How on earth could we ever turn out like the stogy adults we knew as kids, right? Well, the joke was on us. Because here we are, all grown up and hurdling towards the grave, and so many of us are hating on Lady Gaga because she's not Madonna.

"Now there was a REAL star", we bark at the millennial at the bar.

We get mad at the young for saying they want to be able to self identify with whatever pronouns they wish, when we were the ones that started calling each other "she" and "her" and "lady". We tell them their ideas are half-baked or unoriginal. If we're not mocking them for being naive we're lambasting them for being apathetic. They "can't win for losing", as my father used to say. I mean, he still says it but I stopped listening to him around age thirteen.

I think we're forgetting that millennials are doing exactly what they're supposed to be doing. They're being naive and jaded, confused and confident; they're wearing silly clothes and stupid hair-dos. They're challenging our once-iconoclastic-now-just- mundane thinking on things. Things we thought we'd already reinvented the wheel on. And that bothers us a little... just like it did to the generation before us and before them and so on. Millennials are exactly what they're supposed to be right now: young. And being young means being wrong and right and bold and boring and refreshing and exacerbating. I think, sometimes, that once you cross the threshold of your mid-30's, you suddenly look back with rose-tinted LED screens on the person you were when you were young. You actually start to believe you were a fully formed person all along. That you and your friends might have been the first human mammals in history to just skip the awkward, soul-sucking, soul searching of youth. That at eighteen you just so happened to stumble into being a fully formed person and personality. Well, I hate to be the one to tell you, but you didn't. I used to think I did and I was wrong.

We were no different from millennial in the sense that we were both a product of our times and the times themselves. We were who and what we are both because of the way the world was when we were their age, and also in spite of it. So of course these kids aren't "like us" because they're like them. They are the "youth" now and we are now and we have to suck it up and rise to occasion by occasionally taking a seat because we're tired and we've already done a lot of marching.

And don't tell me how much better we were about being young than them. I remember our youth and I still have the pictures: pageboy haircuts and Z. Cavaricci jeans, parachute pants and Color Me Badd albums. Let's not be too quick to jump on their backs when we were letting Chris Cross make us Jump! Jump! Disco was ridiculous, 80's rock was ridiculous, 90's pop was ridiculous, and millennial music is ridiculous. The music of youth should be somewhat ridiculous. Youth should be spent being ridiculous; doing things just to do them and figuring out later if they were worth anything.

I will say, to any of the young reading this, that my one piece of earnest advice would be this: get all of this out of your system now. Spend a summer being a vegan wiccan, fuck as many kinds of people as you can it figure out where your groove is, move abruptly to a city for no real reason, and try out every weird impulse your little hearts and holes desire. But sort that shit out by the time you're around thirty. Otherwise you end up being that 38 year old asshole who's legally changed his name to "Reflection" who rents a dilapidated old Victorian duplex that you insist "chose you" and where you use the old cedar closet to cure your own meats while you ride a unicycle to your job at the thrift store. Do all that shit now so that you're NEVER that guy.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Today, I thought I would make a quick stop in at all of my favorite watering holes. I'm not a big drinker so I thought it was best to pace myself. I figure if I have just one drink at each bar, that should be safe right? Well, Key West has the most bars per capita in Florida, a fact that I forgot, so the facts may be a little blurry at the end of this column.

I had to schedule my day based on the schedules of the bars, so it seemed fitting to start at the 801. I'm not even sure what time they open, but I know the doors are always open when I eventually get out of bed. It was morning so I thought a screwdriver would be a good start. It has orange juice right? Three quarters of the way through my morning beverage, Gator pulled out his trumpet. Well this got everyone moving, especially me. Time to walk across the street to Bourbon Street Pub.

Bourbon opens at 10 am and they were just opening when I arrived. Dane was working and he's always got all the best Key West gossip. Keeping with the orange juice theme, I had a mimosa. Well, I actually asked for a mojito, but was given a stern stare so a mimosa it was.

The next stop was Bobby's Monkey Bar where Steve was working. We chatted a bit about the latest hustler that arrived in Key West and I had a fuzzy navel (the drink, I de-linted earlier that morning). It was still before noon and I was trying to drink appropriately. Bobby's is a great place to hang out with the locals and play some games.

From Bobby's I walked (kinda) to Aqua. You can't go out during happy hour and not stop in to see Rick (aka Goddess) tending bar at Aqua. I'm pretty sure Rick has been in Key West for as long as the island has been here. We talked about the "old days" and all the people that have touched our lives. I drank something but I'm not quite sure what it was. It was pink and it tasted good, I think.

From Aqua I worked my way to Side Bar, part of Aqua. I'm not even sure how I got there, but I seem to recall stopping a few times along the way. I should mention that Side Bar is only around the corner from Aqua but I'm pretty sure it took me over 30 minutes to get there.

I'm not sure who was working or what we talked about. I'm sure I drank something. I tried to do the backstroke on the pool table (not sure why I remember that) and the mystery bartender helped me arrange a Lyft with my smart phone. He / she also took some pictures of me with my phone (now I know why I remembered doing the backstroke!)

I will give you one piece of advice. If you drink in Key West, keep the number for Hangover Hospital handy.

Welcome To Gay Key West

Our lush tropical island has fascinating architecture, friendly people, a rich history, and plenty of activities to keep you engaged or help relax.

Filled with a funky charm, Key West is a sophisticated place with amazing restaurants, diverse entertainment, eclectic art, professional theatre, and live music that includes salsa, show tunes, disco, country, opera, and classical. Our gay and lesbian guest houses are legendary, and our mainstream hotels and inns are always All Welcome.

Drag shows, commitment ceremonies, water excursions, late night parties, beaches, and clothing optional resorts make our island the preeminent LGBT vacation choice. But the best part about our town is our open and accepting attitude. "One Human Family" is our city motto, and our closets are only used for our costumes!

Whether you are looking for a romantic retreat or decadent fun, you can find it here in Gay Key West where we throw a party 365 days a year!

Best Way to see the island!

A couple is silhouetted against a bright sunset on the deck of a sailboat. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a shimmering reflection on the water. The sailboat's rigging and sails are visible on the right side of the frame. The overall mood is romantic and adventurous.

ASK NANA

E-mail your questions to
nana@keywestgayrag.com

Dear Nana,

My sister is coming to stay with me for four days. We're pretty close and usually get along but this election really put a wedge between us. She voted for Trump. She's supportive of gay rights and marriage and doesn't think there should be a wall and all that, but she says she was just tired of voting for phony politicians. I'm hoping she just keeps all that to herself and we don't talk politics at all, but what's your advice on how to handle it if she does decide to bring up politics over dinner or whatever?

Four days with a Trumpette in your house?? Talk about a loong weekend! But I feel your pain. This election has thrown a lot of friendships and family members for a loop. Who knew stupid would be the new black? I say don't ignore the big, festering elephant in the room... use it to fuck with her. You ARE her brother after all and isn't that what brother's are for: to torture us siblings? I'd Photoshop a bunch of photos of you with Hillary and put them around the house... especially right near where she'll be sleeping. Go on the Internet and find any household item you can with a donkey on it: donkey sheets, donkey potholders, and donkey toilet seat cover. Laminate a photo of Trump and super glue it to the bottom of your toilet bowl. This way she either has to shit on Trump's face (which I'm sure he wouldn't mind) or go use the bathroom at the Starbucks. If you have more than one bathroom, branch out into other family members. COLLECT THE WHOLE SET!

Make sure to have friends come over to visit with fake casts on their arms or on crutches. Have them casually bring up how having access to insurance has been a real lifesaver. If you have a friend with a baby, cover the baby with little red dots (use a marker) and have her come over with the kid and bitch about how the anti-vaxxers gave her kids measles.

Now this is kicker, you need to hire some Mexican or vaguely Latino people to periodically hide in your house and scare the fuck out of her when she least expects it. Hide in the closet, under the sink, in the tub with the curtain closed, maybe even covered in camouflage in the back yard. And when she asks what the hell is going on with the people hiding in and around your house, simply tell her that you've volunteered your home as a sanctuary city for brown people now being hunted by ICE and Trump's merry minions.

I think it should get the point across pretty clearly. And, who knows, you might change her mind. Or, at the very least, you might get your home back to yourself by day two and a half!

WHORE--SCOPES

AQUARIUS JAN 20 - FEB 18

You can't hold a job for more than a few months. Perhaps you should get a job at the white house.

PISCES FEB 19 - MAR 20

Stop bitching about the heat. It's September in South Florida. What were you expecting?

ARIES MAR 21 - APR 19

If you're going to keep crying poor mouth, you may want to stop buying rounds at the bar.

TAURUS APR 20 - MAY 20

When looking for an investment, if the first thing that comes to mind is the lottery, get a financial advisor.

GEMINI MAY 21 - JUN 20

Being frugal is good, Trying to reuse toilet paper is just gross.

CANCER JUN 21 - JUL 22

No dear cancer, you cannot call that nightly scooter ride through a downpour as a shower. Seriously, bathe once in a while.

LEO JUL 23 - AUG 22

You should really consider a carrer change. Then again, sitting on the couch all day isn't a career.

VIRGO AUG 23 - SEP 22

Take a minute to look in the mirror. Seriously, that's what we all have to look at!

LIBRA SEP 23 - OCT 22

Maybe you should take some time to clean your house. The tile in the shower should not have fur.

SCORPIO OCT 23 - NOV 21

No sweetheart, credit scores should not be only two digits.

SAGITTARIUS NOV 22 - DEC 21

Look at it this way, our president makes you look sane!

CAPRICORN DEC 22 - JAN 19

So you want to lose some weight? Maybe try walking to the pizza shop that's two blocks from your house rather than calling for delivery every night..

FANTASY? REALITY!
